

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	7
------------------------------	---

Introduction	9
---------------------------	---

PROLOGUE

Belgian Foreign Policies Before the War, 1895-1914	19
The King and his Diplomats.....	20
The Government and the Diplomats.....	33
Parliament, Press, and the Diplomats.....	40

CHAPTER 1

Diplomats and the Struggle between the King and the Government	47
To Be A Diplomat in Times of War.....	48
Challenging the King.....	57
Albert's Countermove.....	62

CHAPTER 2

A Diplomat and his Enemies	69
A Diplomat Among Diplomats.....	70
A Diplomat Among Politicians.....	79
A Diplomat Among Journalists.....	82
The King's Man.....	85

CHAPTER 3

Courtiers and Diplomats	93
The Two Policies.....	95
The Fall from the King's Grace.....	97
The Removal of Baron Eugène-Napoléon Beyens.....	108

CHAPTER 4

The Prestige of the Diplomatic Corps	115
Safeguarding the Dignity of the Diplomatic Corps.....	116
The Removal of Baron Paul Guillaume.....	121
The Gift of Prestige.....	130

CHAPTER 5

The Ruin of the Old House	135
The Rise of the Young Ones	135
The Removal of Baron Paul de Grooté.....	142
The Exile Press and Belgian Diplomats.....	154

CHAPTER 6

The Nationalist Coup of Belgian Diplomacy	157
Old and New Diplomacy	157
The Two Policies (bis).....	163

CHAPTER 7

The Failure of the Coup	173
Humouring the King?	174
The Road to Versailles and Back.....	177
Disillusions	189
The King as Foreign Policy Actor in the Aftermath of the First World War	195

EPILOGUE

The Return of Baron Beyens	203
Conclusion	213
Bibliography	217