

CONTENTS

Introduction	page 1
-------------------------------	--------

PART ONE

SAINT-SIMON AND SAINT-SIMONISM

Chap. I. Saint-Simon	4
II. The Saint-Simonians	11
(a) The early beginnings	11
(b) The schisms	14
(c) The apotheosis of Enfantin	24
(d) The trial and disbandment	28
(e) 'L'Année de la Mère'	32
(f) The Suez Canal	35
III. Saint-Simonism	37
(a) Doctrine de Saint-Simon. Exposition. Première Année	37
(b) Doctrine de Saint-Simon. Exposition. Deuxième Année	42
(c) Enseignements d'Enfantin	46

PART TWO

SAINT-SIMONISM IN GERMANY

Chap. IV. The attitude of Germany	60
(a) The press and the Saint-Simonians	60
(b) Public opinion on Saint-Simonism	64
(c) Enlightened opinion	66
(d) The Young German women	78
(e) The disaster	84

PART THREE

HEINE AND SAINT-SIMONISM

Chap. V. Heine and the Saint-Simonians	88
(a) A conspiracy of silence	88
(b) 1831-1833	94
(c) Heine and Enfantin	103
(d) The middle years	111
(e) Home truths	117

CONTENTS

Chap. VI. Coming events	page 129
(a) 'Enfant perdu'	129
(b) Saint-Simonian thoughts	131
(c) Conflict	135
VII. The Saint-Simonian period	138
(a) The conflict resolved	138
(b) Order out of chaos	142
(c) Die Romantische Schule	144
(d) Zur Geschichte der Religion und Philo- sophie in Deutschland	147
(e) Heine's interpretation of the doctrine	152
VIII. Disillusion	157
(a) 1836-1848	157
(b) The conversion	163
(c) Extent of the Saint-Simonian influence	168

PART FOUR

LAUBE AND SAINT-SIMONISM

Chap. IX. Laube's interest in Saint-Simonism	172
(a) His knowledge and sources	172
(b) An interrupted journey	174
(c) Uncompleted schemes	180
(d) An enforced silence	186
(e) The loss of interest	189
(f) Inhibitions	193
X. Laube and Börne	196
XI. A Saint-Simonian society	203
(a) The plot	203
(b) The constant, the inconstant and the 'calm'	207
(c) The 'social revolution'	215
(d) Other Saint-Simonian ideas	219
XII. The influence of Heine	223
(a) The Reisenovellen	223
(b) Die Zeitung für die elegante Welt	233

CONTENTS

xi

Chap. XIII.	Shades of the prison-house	page 241
	(a) Fear	241
	(b) The loose ends	246
	(c) Die Krieger	248
	(d) Die Bürger	251
	(e) The debt owed to Enfantin	255

PART FIVE

GUTZKOW AND SAINT-SIMONISM

Chap. XIV.	Gutzkow's criticisms of Saint-Simonism	258
	(a) Karl Gutzkow	258
	(b) The conscious attitude	261
	XV. The half-conscious interest	274
	(a) Under Menzel's banner	274
	(b) Briefe eines Narren an eine Närrin	276
	XVI. The interest waxes	281
	(a) Maha Guru	281
	(b) The mantle of Enfantin	283
	XVII. Saint-Simonism prevails	288
	(a) Temper	288
	(b) Lucinde	292
	(c) The Preface	295
	XVIII. The interest wanes	300
	(a) Wally, die Zweiflerin	300
	(b) An 'innocent crime'	303
	XIX. The interest denied	309
	(a) Confessions and denials	309
	(b) Recantations	313
	(c) The 'evil eye'	317

PART SIX

MUNDT AND SAINT-SIMONISM

Chap. XX.	Unpromising beginnings	320
	(a) Theodor Mundt	320
	(b) Early stories	322
	(c) Early critical efforts	327

CONTENTS

Chap.	XXI.	The influence of two women	page 331
	(a)	Charlotte Stieglitz	331
	(b)	Rahel Varnhagen von Ense	342
	(c)	Moderne Lebenswirren	344
	XXII.	Discovery of Saint-Simonism	348
	(a)	The discovery	348
	(b)	Madonna	352
	XXIII.	The summit of his career	361
	(a)	Literarischer Zodiacus	361
	(b)	Charlotte Stieglitz, ein Denkmal	366
	(c)	The catastrophic year	369
	XXIV.	Seven thin years	377
	(a)	Deterioration	377
	(b)	Marking time	380
	(c)	The 'social couple'	385
	XXV.	A dreary ending	389
	(a)	Vain repetitions	389
	(b)	A fool's paradise	393

PART SEVEN

WIENBARG AND SAINT-SIMONISM

Chap.	XXVI.	The Saint-Simonian influence	398
	(a)	Ludolf Wienbarg	398
	(b)	The apostle of Heine	403
	(c)	The forerunner of Nietzsche	412
	(d)	The partner of Gutzkow	419
	(e)	The myth of Wienbarg	425
Conclusion		431
Index		437

PLATES

Le Père Enfantin	Frontispiece
Heinrich Heine	facing page 140
Heinrich Laube	„ „ 256
Charlotte Stieglitz	„ „ 332