

Contents

PREFACE

xi

PART I

The Innate and the Acquired

Chapter 1	Race and Culture	3
Chapter 2	The Anthropologist and the Human Condition	25

PART II

Family, Marriage, Kinship

Chapter 3	The Family	39
Chapter 4	An Australian "Atom of Kinship"	63
Chapter 5	Cross-Readings	73
Chapter 6	On Marriage between Close Kin	88

PART III

The Environment and Its Representation

Chapter 7	Structuralism and Ecology	101
Chapter 8	Structuralism and Empiricism	121
Chapter 9	The Lessons of Linguistics	138
Chapter 10	Religion, Language, and History: Concerning an Unpublished Text by Ferdinand de Saussure	148

Contents

Chapter 11	From Mythical Possibility to Social Existence	157
------------	---	-----

PART IV

Beliefs, Myths, and Rites

Chapter 12	Cosmopolitanism and Schizophrenia	177
Chapter 13	Myth and Forgetfulness	186
Chapter 14	Pythagoras in America	192
Chapter 15	An Anatomical Foreshadowing of Twinship	201
Chapter 16	A Small Mythico-Literary Puzzle	210
Chapter 17	From Chrétien de Troyes to Richard Wagner	219
Chapter 18	A Note on the Tetralogy	235

PART V

Constraint and Freedom

Chapter 19	A Meditative Painter	243
Chapter 20	To a Young Painter	248
Chapter 21	New York in 1941	258
Chapter 22	A Belated Word about the Creative Child	268
Chapter 23	Reflections on Liberty	279

REFERENCES	289
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	299
INDEX	301