

Contents

General Editor's Note Kimball King	ix
Introduction Hersh Zeifman	xi
Chronology	xix
An Interview with David Hare Hersh Zeifman	3
Rare Hare, Liking Women Ruby Cohn	23
Playing with Place: Some Filmic Techniques in the Plays of David Hare John Russell Brown	45
Language and Values in Hare's Plays Robert L. King	69
(Re:)Defining the Assault: Hare's Juvenilia Scott Fraser	89
Nostalgia for the Consensus in Knuckle and Teeth 'n' Smiles Finlay Donesky	109
Fanshen : Hare and Brecht Janelle Reinelt	127
Adapting the Model: Plenty and Licking Hitler John Bull	141

The Last Chopper Out: Saigon: Year of the Cat Toby Silverman Zinman	159
Living the Present: The Bay at Nice and Wrecked Eggs Anthony Jenkins	169
Virtuous Women: Portraits of Goodness in The Secret Rapture, Racing Demon, and Strapless Anne Nothof	185
“Our Father”: The Profession of Faith in Racing Demon Ann Wilson	201
Playwright of Popular Dissent: David Hare and the Trilogy Lane A. Glenn	217
Selected Bibliography	237
Index	249