
Contents

Notes on contributors	vii
1 Introduction: Proust, the movie JOHN ORR	1
Part I Political fiction and the cinema
2 The Trial of Orson Welles JOHN ORR	13
3 Filming the unfilmable: Volker Schlöndorff and The Tin Drum RICHARD KILBORN	28
4 A Dry White Season : The personal and the political VASSILIKI KOLOCOTRONI and OLGA TAXIDOU	39
5 Peter Weir's version: The Year of Living Dangerously JOHN ORR	54
6 Nineteen Eighty-Four and 1984 J. B. ELLIS	66
7 The Unbearable Lightness of Being on film CATHERINE FELLOWS	75
Part II Hollywood and the literary product
8 Words selling pictures JOHN IZOD	95
9 The impossible object: Reflections on The Shining JOHN BROWN	104
10 Dune : A tale of two texts ELISABETH and MICHAEL LIDDEL	122

11	Ballard's nightmares/Spielberg's dreams: Empire of the Sun FRANK GORMLIE	140
12	Hollywood and race: To Kill a Mockingbird COLIN NICHOLSON	151
13	Blade Runner : The economic shaping of a film RICK INSTRELL	160
14	Some narrative sources of Ridley Scott's Alien ROBBIE ROBERTSON	171
	Index	180