

Table of Contents

Claus von Carnap-Bornheim and Timo Ibsen
Foreword	9
Timo Ibsen, Kristin Ilves, Birgit Maixner, Sebastian Messal and Jens Schneeweiß
Introduction – ‘Fortifications in their Natural and Cultural Landscape: From Organising Space to the Creation of Power’	11
Creating Landscapes
Sebastian Messal
Creating a sacred landscape – The Slavic temple fortress of Arkona	19
Olga A. Khomiakova
Sambian-Natangian hillforts in the 1 st -millennium AD settlement system of the southeastern Baltic region	35
Tanja Schreiber, Henny Piezonka, Natalia Chairkina, Ekaterina Dubovtseva and Lyubov Kosinskaya
Towards territoriality and inequality? Examining prehistoric hunter-gatherer fortifications in the Siberian taiga	51
Sirio Canós-Donnay
Fluid fortresses in changing states: Tata in southern Senegal (13 th –19 th centuries AD)	69
Vladimir Salač, Karin Göbel and Jörg Nowotny
Prehistoric and Early Medieval hillforts in Bohemia	83
Maintaining Landscapes
Sergey Chaukin
Typology of Iron Age hillforts in the Moskva river region	103
Kristo Siig
What does location say about function? Using computational methods for analysing how Late Iron Age fortified sites in Estonia are located in the landscape	119
Timo Ibsen
Spatial and temporal distribution of hillforts on the Sambian peninsula in Russia	141
Natalia V. Grigoreva
The Ladoga fortress (Staraya Ladoga) on the trade route ‘from the Varangians to the Greeks’	167
Birgit Maixner
The Vesterfjellet hillfort on the island of Jøa on the coast of central Norway: Point of lookout or refuge?	181

Håkon Reiersen
Controlling the fjords, defending the settlements. Hillforts in western Norway 195

Transforming Landscapes

Kristin Ilves
Approaching the complexity of Late Iron Age hillforts through their landscape setting: The case of the Åland Islands 213

Jens Schneeweiß
The development of strongholds in a highly dynamic river landscape – the early medieval Höhbeck case on the Elbe river 231

Thorsten Lemm
Fortifications and communication routes: The Nordalbingian fortresses from the macro, meso and micro perspectives 249

Catherine J. Frieman, Andy M. Jones and James Lewis Worlds within worlds: Embanked enclosures and transforming identities during the Romano-British period in Cornwall 267

Oliver Nakoinz and Anna K. Loy
The location of connected fortifications 285