

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

A Note on Sources xi

Introduction 1

- I. Vergil's Dido and Aeneas: Tensions and Transformations 7
 - Interpretative Problems 7
 - The Dido Episode 11
 - Interpretative Legacy 38
- II. From Vergilian Epic to Romantic Epic: Three Transvaluations 41
 - Augustine 45
 - Dante 51
 - Spenser 61
 - From Renunciation to Accommodation 79
- III. Renaissance Dramatic Transvaluations 83
 - Alessandro Pazzi de' Medici, Lodovico Dolce,
Cesare de' Cesari, Celso Pistorelli 87
 - Giovambattista Giraldi Cinthio 90
 - Étienne Jodelle 103
 - Robert Garnier, Samuel Daniel 116
 - Christopher Marlowe 127
 - Epic into Tragedy, Romantic Epic into Tragicomedy 137

iv. The Shakespearean Synthesis: Antony and Cleopatra	140
Prologue	140
History: Tragedy and the Herculean Hero	151
Philosophy: "What Venus did with Mars," or the Debate of Love and Strife	167
Fiction as Myth: Of Isis and Osiris, or the Myth of Egypt	191
Summary: From Vergilian Epic to Shakespearean Tragicomedy	213
Epilogue	220
 Bibliography	 225
 Index	 243