

Contents

Preface	vii
Donald Phillip Verene
1. Critical Philosophy or Topical Philosophy? Meditations on the De nostri temporis studiorum ratione	1
2. The Priority of Common Sense and Imagination: Vico's Philosophical Relevance Today	19
3. Marxism, Humanism, and the Problem of Imagination in Vico's Works	47
4. Rhetoric and Philosophy	75
5. Italian Humanism and Heidegger's Thesis of the End of Philosophy	95
6. Vico versus Freud: Creativity and the Unconscious	117
7. The Denial of the Rational	139
8. Vico, Marx, and Heidegger	157
9. Vico as Epochal Thinker	179
10. Why Rhetoric is Philosophy	201
11. Remarks on a Prolegomenon to the Problem of Rhetoric	213