

Contents

Foreword	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
1 Values and social-scientific knowledge	8
1.1 Value-relevance	8
1.2 Ideal-type	20
1.3 Value-freedom	26
2 Sociology of action	36
2.1 Social action	36
2.2 The teleological model of action	54
2.3 Social action and freedom	58
3 Power and domination	71
3.1 Power and resistance	71
3.2 Domination	78
3.3 Discipline	83
3.4 Domination and discipline: implications	87
4 Class	104
4.1 The modern capitalist market-economy	104
4.2 'Property' and 'lack of property'	111
4.3 The modern capitalist factory	128
4.4 Critique and class action	137

5	Status	162
5.1	The meaning of stand	162
5.2	Western feudalism	165
5.3	'Social honour' and 'lack of social honour'	170
5.4	Seigneurial proprietorship	178
5.5	Private rights	185
5.6	Estate action	196
6	Political leadership, party organization and the masses	218
6.1	The modern nation-state	218
6.2	Parliamentary leadership and party organization	232
6.3	Plebiscitary leadership and the masses	240
6.4	Political emancipation	249
	Conclusion	272
	Bibliography	279
	Index	310