

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
1. Introduction	1
2. Weber's Theory of the Ideal Type	18
1. The Epistemic Problem	18
2. The Ideal Type in Weber's Methodology	26
3. Varieties of Ideal Types	38
A. Historical and General Sociological Types	39
B. Epistemology of Action Types	43
C. Development of Structural Types	49
4. Conclusion	59
3. The Subjective Critique	61
1. Introduction to the Critiques	61
2. Nature of the Subjective Critique	64
3. Phenomenology	66
4. Ordinary-Language Analysis	77
5. Conclusion	95
4. The Objective Critique	101
1. Nature of the Objective Critique	101
2. Structuralism	104
3. Critical Theory	123
4. Conclusion	145
5. Logical Status of Social-Scientific Analysis	149
1. Introduction	149
2. Weber's Concept of Objectivity	153
3. The Social Scientist and the Social Actor	161

4. The Relationship among Social-Scientific Theories	165
5. Social-Scientific Analysis of Other Cultures	176
6. Conclusion	191
Notes	194
Bibliography	201
Index	211