

Contents

I. Happenings and Story

1 Assembling — 3

- 1.1 Aristotle: “Joining Events Together” — 3
- 1.2 Assembled Events in Flaubert’s Sentimental Education — 4
- 1.3 Indeterminacy and Concretization — 6
- 1.4 Continuous Happenings and Discontinuous Stories — 8

2 Omitting — 10

- 2.1 Types of Omission — 10
- 2.2 Permanent and Temporary Gaps — 13
- 2.3 Motivations of Nonnarration — 15
- 2.4 Writers’ Remarks about Omitting — 17
- 2.5 Genre Preferences — 21

II The Nonnarrated in Short Fiction

3 Lacunae and Implied Psychology in Aleksandr Puškin’s Belkin Tales — 23

- 3.1 Why Is Sil’vio Late? — 24
- 3.2 Why Does Sil’vio Not Shoot the Count? — 28

4 Inverting the Detective Script: Karel Čapek’s “Case of Dr. Mejlík” — 32

5 Concealed Stories – Mansfield and Čexov — 36

- 5.1 Katherine Mansfield: “Revelations” — 36
- 5.2 Anton Čexov: “Old Age” — 38

6 Anton Čexov’s Open-Ended Stories — 41

- 6.1 “The Teacher of Literature” — 41
- 6.2 “The Bride” — 43
- 6.3 “The Lady with the Little Dog” — 44
- 6.4 Replacing Narratorial Narration — 47

- 7 James Joyce: Dubliners — 49
7.1 “The Boarding House” — 49
7.2 “The Dead” — 50
- 8 Katherine Mansfield: “The Woman at the Store” — 53
- 9 Nonnarration and Ornamentation in Isaak Babel’s “Crossing the Zbruč” — 55
- 10 Robert Musil: “Tonka” — 65
- 11 Modes of Nonnarration in Ernest Hemingway — 68
11.1 Scholarly Approaches to Omissions in Hemingway — 68
11.2 “Big Two-Hearted River” — 69
11.3 “The Killers” — 73
11.4 “A Clean, Well Lighted Place” — 75
- 12 William Faulkner’s Art of Nonnarration — 79
12.1 Concealing in Rearrangement: “A Rose for Emily” — 79
12.2 “Dry September” — 84
12.3 “That Evening Sun”: Anticipated Murder — 86
- 13 Bernard Malamud’s Mysteries — 89
13.1 “The Magic Barrel” — 89
13.2 “Take Pity” — 90
- 14 Haruki Murakami: “Scheherazade” — 92

III. The Nonnarrated in Long Fiction

- 15 Fëdor Dostoevskij: The Brothers Karamazov — 97
15.1 The Narrator and His Style — 97
15.2 How the Narrator Steers the Reader — 100
15.3 “Pro and Contra” as the Novel’s Master Figure — 104
15.4 The Author’s Pro and Contra — 105
- 16 Diegetic Narrator: Fëdor Dostoevskij’s Adolescent — 108
16.1 Diegetic Narration — 108
16.2 The Bad Ems Incident — 109

17	Omissions in Robbe-Grillet — 114
17.1	“Objectivity” — 114
17.2	The Nonnarrated Act of Murder in The Voyeur — 115
17.3	The Possible Adultery in Jealousy — 122
17.3.1	Repeated Impressions — 122
17.3.2	Desire and Jealousy — 124
17.3.3	Geometry — 127
17.3.4	“Subjectivity” — 129
17.3.5	What is Going On? — 132
18	Conclusions: The Effects of Nonnarrating — 133
18.1	Intensification — 133
18.2	Suspense — 134
18.3	Focus on Action within and Interaction between Characters — 137
18.4	Stimulation for Own Course of Events — 138
18.5	Withdrawal of the Narrator — 139
18.6	Rehierarchization of Side-Stories — 139
18.7	Confusion — 140
Works Cited — 141
Index of Authors and Works — 149	