

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
1. The Victorian Imagination: A Nonpolemical Introduction	1
2. Past and Present as Literary Experience: An Essay in the Epistemological Imagination	14
3. The Tennysonian Imagination	36
4. Tennysonian Madness: Mighty Collisions in the Imagination	64
5. Enlarging the "miniature epic": The Panic Subtext in Tennyson's Ænone	92
6. Tennyson's The Lotos-Eaters : Emblem of a New Poetry	101
7. In Defense of Locksley Hall	119
8. Tennyson's Function of Poetry at the Present Time: A Parabolic Reading of The Princess	132
9. In Memoriam in Aesthetic Context	164
10. Tennyson's Maud : New Critical Perspectives	208
11. The Poetry of Swinburne: An Essay in Critical Reinforcement	227

12.	Marius the Epicurean : Beyond Victorianism	260
13.	Déjà vu Inverted: The Imminent Future in Walter Pater's Marius the Epicurean	286
14.	The Dark Space Illumined: A Reading of Hardy's "Poems of 1912-13"	297
15.	Thomas Hardy's "chronicle-piece" in "play-shape": An Essay in Literary Conceptualization	310
16.	"The Thing Signified" by The Dynasts : A Speculation	335
17.	Thomas Hardy's Illusion of Letters: Narrative Consciousness as Imaginative Style in The Dynasts , Tess , and Jude	349
	Index	337