

CONTENTS

	PAGE
I. THE GORGON'S HEAD . . . . .	I
II. SIR ROGER DE COVERLEY AND HIS FRIENDS—
I. A Visit to Coverley Hall . . . . .	37
II. The Political Oracle . . . . .	59
III. Captain Sentry on the French . . . . .	67
IV. The Spectator in the Country . . . . .	70
V. Sir Roger in Cambridge . . . . .	75
VI. Sir Roger in Covent Garden . . . . .	87
VII. Sir Roger in the Temple . . . . .	91
III. DESCRIPTIVE SKETCHES—
I. Roman Life in the Time of Pliny the Younger . . . . .	99
II. London Life in the Time of Addison . . . . .	148
IV. BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES—
I. William Cowper . . . . .	203
II. William Robertson Smith . . . . .	278
III. Fison and Howitt . . . . .	291
IV. Albert Houtin . . . . .	332
V. ALLOCUTIONS—
I. Sur l'Étude des Origines humaines . . . . .	337
II. An English Alexandria . . . . .	356
III. William Cowper: an Appreciation . . . . .	359
IV. Reply to an Address . . . . .	365

	PAGE
VI. MISCELLANIES—
I. Condorcet on Human Progress . . . . .	369
II. The Road to the Scaffold . . . . .	384
III. Pax Occidentis: a League of the West . . . . .	393
IV. Our Debt to France . . . . .	401
V. French and English Chivalry . . . . .	404
VI. The Taking of the Redoubt . . . . .	414
VII. Veterans of the Old Guard . . . . .	421
VIII. For a Scrap of Paper . . . . .	425
IX. Modern Italy and Greece . . . . .	427
X. Under a Tuscan Casement . . . . .	433
XI. The Student's Dream . . . . .	437
XII. The Student's Temptation . . . . .	438
XIII. June in Cambridge . . . . .	439
XIV. My Old Study . . . . .	441
XV. A Dream of Cambridge . . . . .	443
XVI. Memories of Youth . . . . .	447
XVII. Life's Fitful Fever . . . . .	448
XVIII. Beyond the Shadows . . . . .	450
XIX. Ad libellum suum Auctor . . . . .	452