

Contents

Introduction

Academic Writing: Process and Product

RONALD V WHITE

4

Academic Writing – Can We Please All the People All the Time?

An examination of the writing problems experienced at tertiary level by home and overseas students, and the criteria applied by subject staff in their assessment of this academic writing.

CYRIL WEIR

17

The Product Before: Task-Related Influences on the Writer

LIZ HAMP-LYONS

35

A Consideration of the Meaning of ‘Discuss’ in Examination Questions

TONY DUDLEY-EVANS

47

Teaching Examination Answer Writing: Process, Product or Placebo?

TONY LYNCH

53

Teaching Examination Techniques at Buckingham

PAT HOWE

61

The Introductory Paragraph in Economics Essays and Examinations

R R JORDAN

63

Writing for Continuous Assessment or Examinations – A Comparison of Style

TERESA O'BRIEN

67

EAP→ESP→Self sustaining Growth
K JAMES	75
Project Writing: The Marriage of Process and Product
MERIEL BLOOR AND MAGGIE JO ST JOHN	85
Individualising Academic Writing Tuition
GEORGE BLUE	95
Activating the Learner's Contribution in the Development of Academic Writing Skills
ARTHUR BROOKES AND PETER GRUNDY	100
Don't Correct – Reformulate!
JOAN ALLWRIGHT	109
Developing Student Writing – A subject Tutor and Writing Tutors Compare Points of View
DIANNE WALL, ANDREW NICKSON, R R JORDAN, JOAN ALLWRIGHT, DIANE HOUGHTON	117
Designing a writing syllabus in English for academic purposes: Process and product
FLORENCE DAVIES	130
The Social Construction of Science and the Teaching of English: An Example of Research
GREG MYERS	143
Overwriting and other Techniques for Success with Academic Articles
ROGER ANDERSON	151
Appendix:
Student Essay: Why is Urban Unemployment and Underemployment so great in most Less Developed Countries?
	159
Notes on Contributors
	166