

CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
I. The Divinity of Kings in the Hellenistic East . . .	1
II. The Divinity of Man and King in Republican Rome .	35
III. Julius Caesar's Attempt to found a Divine Monarchy .	58
IV. Divus Julius enshrined in State Cult . . . . .	78
V. The Strife to secure Caesar's Power . . . . .	100
VI. Augustus, Son of the Deified Julius . . . . .	142
VII. The Formation of a State Cult . . . . .	181
VIII. The Institution of the State Cult in Provinces and Municipalities . . . . .	205
IX. The Deification of Augustus . . . . .	224
X. The Development of Augustus' Divinity . . . . .	239
APPENDICES
I. The Worship of the Persian King . . . . .	247
II. Alexander and the Proskynesis . . . . .	256
III. Inscriptions recording Divine Honors . . . . .	267