

Contents

Preface	xiii
Glossary	xv
Signs and abbreviations	xix
1 The background	1
Introduction	1
The Indo-Iranians	2
The old religion	3
The cult	3
The gods	6
Death and the hereafter	12
Conclusion	16
2 Zoroaster and his teaching	17
Introduction	17
Zoroaster and his mission	18
Ahura Mazda and his Adversary	19
The heptad and the seven creations	21

Contents

Création and the Three Times	25
Death and the hereafter	27
3 The establishing of Mazda worship	30
Introduction	30
The Zoroastrian badge	31
The times and manner of praying	32
The seven festivals	33
The oldest prayers	34
The creed	35
The liturgy and Yenhe hatam	37
The Ashem vohu	38
The hymns	38
4 The unrecorded centuries	39
The early days	39
Doctrinal developments	40
Belief in a world Saviour	42
The extension of purity laws	43
Priests and worship	46
Conclusion	46
5 Under the Achaemenians	48
The Medes, the Persians and Zoroaster	48
The early kings	50
Cyrus	50
Cambyses	53
Darius the Great	54
Xerxes	56
Achaemenian palaces and tombs	57
Fires and fire altars	60
The divine beings	61
Icons and temples	62
The priesthood	65

Contents

The Zurvanite heresy	67
The Zoroastrian calendar	70
The three world Saviours	74
Practices of the faith	75
The spread of Zoroaster's teaching	76
6 Under the Seleucids and Arsacids	78
Alexander and Iran	78
The Seleucids and Iran	79
The rise of the Parthians	80
Eastern Iranian borders: the Kushans	83
Western Iranian borders: Armenia	84
Fire temples and image shrines	85
Funerary practices	90
Developments in calendar and chronology	92
The Avesta	93
Developments in the scribal tradition	95
Human affairs	97
Next-of-kin marriages	97
Ecclesiastical organization	97
Unbelievers	98
Conclusion	100
7 Under the early Sasanians	101
The rise of the Sasanians	101
Tansar, a religious propagandist	102
Calendar changes	104
Iconoclasm and sacred fires	106
The rise of Kirder, the second great prelate	109
The prophet Mani	111
Zurvanism in the early Sasanian period	112
Learning and writing	113
The summit of Kirder's power	114
Persian made the official language of all Iran	116
Conclusion	117

Contents

8	During the mid Sasanian period	118
	Upholding a Zurvanite orthodoxy	118
	The three great sacred fires	123
	Liturgical reform	125
	Religious literature and royal propaganda	126
	Calendar reform	128
	The Mazdakite movement	130
9	Under the later Sasanians	132
	Khosrow 'the Just'	132
	The written Avesta	134
	The Pahlavi literature	136
	Religious observances	138
	The last years of Zoroastrian Iran	141
	Conclusion	143
10	Under the Caliphs	145
	The Arab conquest of Iran	145
	Inducements and barriers to conversion	147
	Islam takes root in Iran	150
	Zoroastrians in ninth-century Iran	152
	Zoroastrians in tenth-century Iran	156
	Turkish and Mongol invasions of Iran	161
11	Under Il-Khans, Rajahs and Sultans	163
	Zoroastrian survival	163
	Manuscript copying and preservation	165
	The Parsi founding fathers	166
	Parsis in the twelfth to fourteenth centuries	168
	Parsis in the fifteenth century	171
	Irani Zoroastrians in the sixteenth century	175
	Parsis in the sixteenth century	175

Contents

12	Under the Safavids and Mughals	177
	Irani Zoroastrians under Shah ʿAbbas: their beliefs and practices	177
	Parsis in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries	182
	Eighteenth-century Parsi religious disputes	188
	Irani Zoroastrians in the eighteenth century	190
	The Parsi Panchayat of Bombay	192
	Eighteenth-century European studies of Zoroastrian beliefs	194
13	Under the Qajars and British	196
	Christian missionaries and Parsi beliefs	196
	Parsi religious reforms	199
	Haug and West on Zoroastrian beliefs	202
	Theosophy and the Parsis	204
	Ilm-i Khshnum: Zoroastrian occultism	205
	Parsis and the printed word	206
	The Parsi practice of the faith	207
	Irani Zoroastrians in the nineteenth century	209
	Parsi calendar and religious reform in the early twentieth century	212
14	In the twentieth century	216
	Urban Parsis	216
	Zoroastrians in modern Iran	218
	Parsis in independent India and Pakistan	223
	Recent interpretations of Zoroastrian belief	224
	International dispersion	226
	Bibliography	229
	Index	237