

TABLE OF CONTENTS

FOREWORD	XI
INTRODUCTION	XIII
1. RESEARCH HISTORY AND ARCHAEOLOGY OF SAMOSATA AND COMMAGENE	1
1.1. Introduction	1
1.2. Geographical Setting	1
1.2.1. Geology and climate	1
1.2.2. Land use	2
1.2.3. Urban connections and routes	3
1.2.4. Site topography	5
1.3. Research history	6
1.4. The Özgüç campaigns (1978–1989): history, methodology and publications	10
1.5. The history and archaeology of Samosata; a brief overview	13
1.6. Introduction to the history and archaeology of the kingdom of Commagene (ca. 2nd c. BCE–1st c. CE)	18
2. HELLENISM IN THE EAST?	23
2.1. Introduction	23
2.2. Making sense of culture styles and perceived hybridity in acculturative approaches	23
2.3. Understanding the Antiochan program in the context of 1st c. BCE dynastic self-representation of ›client kings‹ in West Asia	27
2.4. Towards a globalizing perspective: universalized culture styles in a local context of dynastic ideology construction and strategies of cultural bricolage	30
2.5. ›Doing Greek‹ in the palace of Samosata? The limits of Hellenism	32
3. OBJECTSCAPES AND THE IMPACT OF CONNECTIVITY	35
3.1. Introduction	35
3.2. Globalization and the Hellenistic world: towards the re-territorialization of object types	35
3.3. Objectscapes as a globalization methodology	38

4. THE PALATIAL CONTEXT: ARCHAEOLOGICAL DESCRIPTION AND DISCUSSION	41
4.1. Introduction	41
4.2. The palatial layout	41
4.3. Height differences	46
4.4. Staircases and multiple floors	47
4.5. Roofing	48
4.6. Evidence for later additions and reparations	51
4.7. Identification as the Commagenean royal palace	52
4.8. Connection to the Commagenean ruler cult	53
4.9. Chronology	58
5. ARCHITECTURAL DECORATION (2ND C. BCE–1ST C. CE)	63
5.1. Introduction	63
5.2. Corinthian capitals	63
5.2.1. Corinthian Order I	64
5.2.2. Corinthian Order II	74
5.2.3. Corinthian capitals (miscellaneous)	78
5.3. Ionic capitals	82
5.4. Door lintels	85
5.5. Column bases	89
5.6. Column drums	91
5.7. Entablature fragments	95
5.8. Small decorative fragments	108
6. HELLENISTIC AND EARLY ROMAN SCULPTURE FROM SAMOSATA (2ND C. BCE–1ST C. CE)	111
6.1. Introduction	111
6.2. Portraits	112
6.3. Statue fragments	129
6.4. Figurative reliefs	142

6.5. Stelai pertaining to the Antiochan ruler cult	147
6.6. The sculptural evidence for Hellenistic and Early Roman Samosata in its Commagenean context	159
7. TRANSFORMING OBJECTSCAPES OF SAMOSATA (4TH C. BCE–1ST C. CE)	163
7.1. Introduction: four objectscaes of Samosata	163
7.2. Objectscape 1 (4th–2nd c. BCE; pre-palatial)	163
7.2.1. The ›torus-base structure‹ in sector d-g/15-17, layer VI	164
7.2.2. The ›altar structure‹ in sector f-g/17, layer VI	166
7.2.3. The ›curved step structure‹ in sector k/16, layer VI	168
7.2.4. Pottery finds in sector u/9-10, layer VII	169
7.2.5. Analysis	169
7.3. Objectscape 2 (early 1st c. BCE; early palatial)	172
7.3.1. Architecture	172
7.3.2. Mosaics	173
7.3.3. Architectural decoration	176
7.3.4. Wall painting	178
7.3.5. Ceramics	183
7.3.6. Analysis	186
7.4. Objectscape 3 (mid–late 1st c. BCE; later-palatial)	187
7.4.1. Architecture	187
7.4.2. Mosaics	188
7.4.3. Architectural decoration	188
7.4.4. Wall painting	189
7.4.5. Sculpture	192
7.4.6. Ceramics	193
7.4.7. Analysis	194
7.5. Objectscape 4 (1st c. CE; post-palatial)	196
7.5.1. The structure in opus reticulatum in sector m-r/14-15	196
7.5.2. The citadel wall in opus reticulatum in sector g-h/2-3	197
7.5.3. The city walls and Urfa Gate in opus reticulatum in the Lower Town	197
7.5.4. The structure in opus reticulatum in the Lower Town	198
7.5.5. Ceramics	199
7.5.6. Analysis	201

8. CONCLUSIONS	203
BIBLIOGRAPHY	207
APPENDIX: ARCHAEOLOGICAL FEATURES IN SECTOR I-N/13-19	241
PLATE DESCRIPTIONS	297
PLATES	305