

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
1 Introduction: The Continuing Dilemmas of Transition Aurel Braun	1
Part One: Transition
2 Rethinking Transitology Guy Hermet	31
3 Transitions and Elites John Higley	47
4 Post-Communist Economic Transformation Anders Åslund	69
Part Two: Hungary's Post-Communist Transition
5 The Regional Perspective Zoltan Barany	91
6 Political Transition and Social Transformation Rudolf L. Tokes	113
7 The Foundations of Post-Socialist Legitimacy Anna Seleny	131
Part Three: Marketization and Social Change in Hungary
8 Economic Transformation, 1990–1998 Paul Marer	157
9 Privatization Policies Keith Crane	203

10	Civil Society, Transition, and Consolidation of Democracy Andrew Arato	225
Part Four: Hungary's International Relations and Security
11	European Integration Bennett Kovrig	253
12	The Russian Factor Aurel Braun	273
13	Regional Security and Ethnic Minorities Daniel N. Nelson	301
14	The Unfolding Transition and Consolidation Zoltan Barany	323
	Index	337
	About the Contributors	349