Contents

Preface xi

Part 1: Perspectives of lived inquiry 1

1 Introduction and background 1

A pioneer approach 1
A self-generating spiritual culture 2
Religious feminism 4
The nature of the self 6
Sacred science 8
A basic quaternary of terms 8
The transpersonal, ego and person 9
Personhood, autonomy and process theology 10
Personal experience as inclusive 12
Mediated-immediacy and inquiry 14
Co-operative inquiry 16
Lived inquiry 17
Inquiry warrants 18
A little bit of personal history 20
Spiritual and subtle currents in contemporary culture 23
Liberal theology 23
Process philosophy and personalism 23
Existentialism and phenomenology 24
Poststructuralism 24
The human potential movement 24
Religious studies 25
Hindu and Buddhist teachers 25
Encounters with the after-life 26
The spiritual and the subtle 28
International Centre for Co-operative Inquiry 29

2 Spiritual inquiry and projected authority 31

Spiritual studies 31
Spiritual innovation and tradition 31

The authoritarian blight 32
Spiritual projection and authority 34
Four stages of projection 35
The distortions of spiritual projection 38
Initiation old and new 40
Lived inquiry, intermediate projection and a self-generating spiritual culture 42
Fallacy of the perennial philosophy 43
Tradition and inquiry 46
Indoctrination, training and inquiry 48

3 Spiritual inquiry and the authority within 50

Internal spiritual authority 50
Critical subjectivity 51
Spiritual life within 52
Other accounts of the spiritual life within 52
Co-creating with immanent spirit 53
Appropriate discourse with the other 54
The relevance of co-operation 56
Spiritual deconstruction 57
Co-operative spiritual inquiry 58
Solo and group precursors 59
A balance of triads 60
Dipolar and polymorphous theology 60

4 Issues in subtle inquiry 63

The subtle 63
Three phases 64
Presuppositions and guiding principles 66
Initiation through imagined experience 67
Shifts of mentation and declarative validity 67
A canon of subtle inquiry 68
Heron's beard and Occam's razor 68
Applying the canon 69
Refraction theory 70
More about method 71

5 The challenge of cartography 73

A launching map 73
The lure of the east 74
Washburn and Grof 74
Maps from monopolar patriarchs 76
Evolution reduced to reflux 80
Emergent evolution as intrinsic to creation 82
Inflation of the nondual 83

6 A dipolar map of the spiritual and the subtle 86
Provisional criteria for a new map 86
Complementarity, dipolarity and integration 86
Cartography as warranted belief 87
A dipolar map of the spiritual and the subtle 88
The spiral and figure of eight 94
Spiritual democratization and spiritual development 98

7 Methods for the second form of spiritual transformation 101
Spiritual transformation 101
Method, route and knack 101
Tacit-to-explicit knacks 102
Consciousness, life and trained attention 105
Method, metaphysic and acting out 107
What happened to Buddhism? 108
Meditation, letting go and the dark return 108
Non-attachment and relationships 110
Doctrinal roots of authoritarianism 111
Reticence about reincarnation 111
Not enough 'good life' 111
Authoritarianism run amok 113
A perinatal template for doctrine? 113
The resolution of differences 114

Part 2: Co-operative inquiry reports 116

8 Procedures 116
Initiating an inquiry 116
A journey of opening 117
Personal meaning 118
Indoctrination or opening 119
Access, impact, first and second order stabilization 121
An outline of inquiry stages 122
Apollonian or Dionysian 123
Transformative and informative inquiries 124

9 Reports, adequacy and viability 126
Primary and secondary outcomes 126
The status and purpose of reports 126
Studies and stories 127
Apollonian and Dionysian 127
Adequacy and viability 128
The inquiries: viability and adequacy 128

The reports 130
Issues about record-keeping 130

10 Spatiotemporal extensions 132
Membership and time structure 132
Initial hypothesis 132
Cycle 1: there(near)-now ASC 133
Cycle 2: there(near)-now ASC 134
Cycle 3: here-now and there(near)-now ASC 135
Cycle 4: there(far)-now ASC leading into here-now and there(far)-now ASC 136
Cycle 5: there(near)-now leading by stages to there(far)-now adding here-now ASC 136
Cycle 6: there(near or far)-now ASC 138
Cycle 7: there-then(past) ASC 138
Cycle 8: here(space-1)- there(space-2)-now ASC 139
Cycle 9: here(space-1)-there(space-2)-now ASC 140
Review and forward planning 140
Evaluation 140
Findings of the inquiry 142

11 Impressions of the other reality 145
Membership and time structure 145
Initial hypothesis and overall design 145
Cycle 1: A ritual for receiving impressions of the other reality (day 1) 146
Cycle 2: A ritual for receiving impressions of the other reality (day 2) 147
Cycle 3: Noticing the other reality at the edge of the visual field (day 3) 148
Cycle 4: Procession and entry to the other reality in the fogou (day 3) 148
Cycle 5: A sword in the other reality (day 5) 150
Cycle 6: Closing ritual at a stone circle (day 5) 151
Evaluation 152
Findings of the inquiry 155

12 The bliss nature and transtemporal regression 157

13 Knacks in entering altered states 161
Overview 161
A classification of the knacks 163
Physical sensation knacks 163
Intuitive knacks 163
Surrender knacks 164
Mediumistic knacks 164
Intellectual knacks 164
Psychodynamic knacks 165

Devil's advocate procedure 165
Issues for further inquiries into knacks 165
Evaluation 166
The relevance of biculturalism 167

14 Charismatic expression 168

15 Transpersonal activities in everyday life 173

Overview 173
First reflection meeting 174
Second reflection meeting 175
Third reflection meeting 176
Fourth reflection meeting 177
Fifth reflection meeting 179
Sixth reflection meeting 180
Seventh reflection meeting 181
Inquiry outcomes 182
Nuggets on personal transformation 183
Practical knowledge outcomes 184
Evaluation 187

16 Transpersonal inquiry within a self-generating culture 189

Overview 189
Self-generating culture findings 190
History of the transpersonal inquiry 190
Findings of the inquiry subgroups 193
Evaluation 195

17 Ritual and interpersonal process 196

The invitation 196
Inquiry strands 196
Recorded outcomes 199
Evaluation 200

18 Empowerment in everyday life and group life 202

Overview 202
Findings 204
Dipolar holonomy 205
Evaluation 206

19 Co-creating 207

Overview 207
Evaluation 209

Theory and method of co-creating 210
A manual for further research 210
Preface 210
Theory 210
General application 213
Application within co-creating sessions 215
Teaching points 222

20 Coming into being 225
The evolution of the wavy group 225
Evaluation 228

Epilogue to Part 2 230
Just a start 230
Theological stripping 230
Advantages and disadvantages 231

Part 3: A participatory worldview 234

21 Participatory research 234
One page description of co-operative inquiry 234
Co-operative inquiry and its inquiry paradigm 235
Reality as subjective-objective 236
An extended and holistic epistemology 238
A collaborative methodology 240
Practical flourishing an end in itself 241
A self-generating culture 243

22 Participatory theology and cosmology 245
God and what there is 245
Participatory theology 246
The theology of embodiment 247
Feeling the presence of the world 247
The concept of presence 248
Presence-as-such 249
Imaging being in a world 250
Consciousness-as-such 251
Immediate present experience and the theology of action 252
Inquiry into Being 253
Participatory cosmology: a conjecture 254

References 255

Index 261