

List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	viii
List of Mind Maps®	xi
Foreword by Spot the dog	xiii
Prologue	xvii

Part 1: The Problem of Deception	1
1 Introduction	3
2 Taxonomy	17
3 The Human Mind	31
4 Signs of Deception	69
Part 2: Countermeasures	127
5 Your Personal Manifesto	129
6 Planning Tough Interviews	145
7 Conducting Tough Interviews	167
8 Forms	235
Part 3: Solutions to HR Problems	261
9 HR Procedures	263
10 Other Applications	355
Part 4: In Court	441
11 Giving Evidence	443
Appendix 1: Suspects Checklist	453
Appendix 2: Evaluation Matrix	459
Index	461

Figure 1.1	Tough and easy interviews	7
Figure 1.2	Who will you get on with?	10
Figure 1.3	Interviewing skills and processes	13
Figure 2.1	Real and story or subjective time	22
Figure 2.2	Achievement and exculpatory lies	24
Figure 3.1	Freud's model of the mind	31
Figure 3.2	The human brain	34
Figure 3.3	An engineering representation of the brain	36
Figure 3.4	Personal space	46
Figure 3.5	Handling incriminating evidence	47
Figure 3.6	Duchenne's experiments	49
Figure 3.7	Does this remind you of anyone?	50
Figure 3.8	Looks like Tiger Woods after missing a 40 foot 'tap in' putt	50
Figure 3.9	Direction of gaze	52
Figure 3.10	Transactional analysis	56
Figure 3.11	Normal emotional sequences	59
Figure 3.12	The two monkeys – the subconscious and memory	67
Figure 4.1	Declining and increasing strength of denials	86
Figure 4.2	Methods of detecting deceit	126
Figure 5.1	Phases in getting to the deep truth	130
Figure 5.2	Direct and indirect approaches	131
Figure 6.1	Types of HR interviews	145
Figure 6.2	Where confessions are not necessary	151
Figure 6.3	The interview room	161
Figure 7.1	The pivotal point	171
Figure 7.2	The pivotal point	223
Figure 8.1	The critical balance on forms	240
Figure 8.2	Showing the checks and balances	243
Figure 8.3	Form to covertly obtain fingerprints	244
Figure 9.1	Balance of risks and controls	265
Figure 9.2	The critical balance	269
Figure 9.3	Critical relationships	270

List of Tables

Table 2.1	Methods of communicating lies	18
Table 3.1	Important elements of the human brain	35
Table 3.2	Primary methods of communication for right-handed people	41
Table 3.3	Eye accessing clues	51
Table 3.4	Types of memory	53
Table 3.5	Difference between memory and imagination	55
Table 3.6	Roles in transactional analysis	57
Table 3.7	Equal transactions	57
Table 3.8	Genuine and contrived anger	63
Table 3.9	Examples of self-deception	64
Table 4.1	Concealment and falsification	76
Table 4.2	Objectives and clues	76
Table 4.3	Summary of denials and pseudo-denials	88–9
Table 4.4	Attack	92–3
Table 4.5	Clues in the content	95–101
Table 4.6	Verb usage	105
Table 4.7	Syntax	110–112
Table 4.8	How answers are expressed	114–115
Table 4.9	Non-verbal clues	117–119
Table 4.10	Clues in the attitude	121–3
Table 5.1	Creating an adult role	132
Table 5.2	Character types – showing how rapport can be established	133
Table 5.3	Methods of establishing rapport	134
Table 6.1	Types of evidence	149
Table 6.2	A simple resolution plan	154
Table 6.3	Diary of events	157
Table 7.1	The seven phases	168
Table 7.2	Question types and interview phases	174
Table 7.3	Responses in the interview with OJ Simpson	175
Table 3.4	Reactions in the interview with OJ Simpson	176
Table 7.5	Answers to binary questions	177
Table 7.6	Refusal to answer	179
Table 7.7	Dealing with lies	184
Table 7.8	The interviewer's body language	190
Table 7.9	Most likely reactions to an opening statement	196
Table 7.10	Possible responses to blocking questions	199
Table 7.11	Most likely reactions to an opportunity to volunteer information	200
Table 7.12	Most likely reactions to questions to which the answers are known	202

Table 7.13	Most likely reactions to questions based on key points	202
Table 7.14	Most likely reactions to requests for detail	202
Table 7.15	Most likely reactions to a requirement to commit	203
Table 7.16	Most likely reactions to enticement questions	203
Table 7.17	Most likely reactions to a request to repeat	203
Table 7.18	Most likely reactions to repeated questions	204
Table 7.19	Most likely reactions to strong evidence	204
Table 7.20	Most likely reactions to incriminating evidence	204
Table 7.21	Most likely reactions to possible commitment of the act	205
Table 7.22	Most likely reactions to the possibility of admission	205
Table 7.23	Most likely reactions to a direct accusation	205
Table 7.24	Most likely reactions to repeated allegations	206
Table 7.25	Most likely reactions to being asked the reason for lying	206
Table 7.26	Most likely reactions to being asked about previous trouble	206
Table 7.27	Most likely reactions to being asked who is not responsible	206
Table 7.28	Most likely reactions to being asked to provide elimination samples	207
Table 7.29	Most likely reactions to a possible lie detector test	207
Table 7.30	Most likely reactions to an imminent lie detector test	207
Table 7.31	Most likely reactions to being asked if the act was probably premeditated	207
Table 7.32	Most likely reactions to changes in topic	210
Table 7.33	Most likely reactions to key point evidence	211
Table 7.34	Most likely reactions to interventions	212
Table 7.35	Most likely reactions to endgame questions	217
Table 7.36	The sound of silence	218
Table 7.37	Most likely reactions to the ultimate statement	219
Table 7.38	Most likely reactions to war stories	220
Table 7.39	Examples of assumptive questions	221
Table 7.40	Most likely reactions to hypothetical questions	221
Table 7.41	Most likely reactions to rationalization statements	225
Table 8.1	Examples of categories of forms	236
Table 8.2	Examples of types of deception	237
Table 8.3	Examples of control and relevant questions	238
Table 8.4	Potential decisions	257
Table 8.5	Simplified example of a catalogue	258
Table 9.1	Control categories	265
Table 9.2	Examples of civil actions	278
Table 9.3	Possible positive measures	282–5
Table 9.4	HR policies and procedures	288–9
Table 9.5	Legal procedures	290
Table 9.6	Specified security procedures	291
Table 9.7	Integrated due diligence and keeping out the bad guys	293–4
Table 9.8	Possible consequences of inadequate validation	295
Table 9.9	Elements to be checked in a pre-employment screening process	309–15
Table 9.10	External verifications	317
Table 9.11	Outline of the PES process	319–24
Table 9.12	Essential security training	326
Table 9.13	Agreements by personnel	327

Table 9.14	Expense statement	329
Table 9.15	Routine reporting	335–6
Table 9.16	Hotlines	337–8
Table 9.17	Types of hotlines	338–9
Table 9.18	Clearance of investigatory procedures	340
Table 9.19	Termination procedures	342–4
Table 9.21	Hardware standards	345
Table 9.22	Standards for commonly used equipment and processes	349
Table 10.1	Coverage of this chapter	350–51
Table 10.2	Steps to getting to the truth	355
Table 10.3	Tracking evolving stories	357
Table 10.4	Options for dealing with commen	365
Table 10.5	Likely closure actions	370
Table 10.6	Good and bad defections	374
Table 10.7	The start of defections	384
Table 10.8	Examples of improper practices	384
Table 10.9	Signs of defections	386
Table 10.10	Potential elimination questions and profiled answers	387–8
Table 10.11	Types of meetings	401–3
Table 10.12	Sources of corroborative data	411
Table 10.13	Willing and other witnesses	423
Table 10.14	Potential persuasive arguments	427
Table 10.15	Memory retrieval cues	428–9
Table 10.16	Descriptions chart	432–3
		436

List of Mind Maps[®]

Mind Map 1	Elements of the cunning plan	5
Mind Map 2	Lies and channels of communication	19
Mind Map 3	Stages in finding the truth	70
Mind Map 4	Attack	94
Mind Map 5	Clues in the content	102
Mind Map 6	Clues in the syntax	109
Mind Map 7	Paralinguistic clues	116
Mind Map 8	Non-verbal communication clues	120
Mind Map 9	Clues from the attitude	124
Mind Map 10	The deception theory	139