

Contents

	Notes on contributors	vii
	Preface	x
	List of abbreviations	xi
	Introduction MÁIRE CROSS	xiv
	PART ONE: BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND MIGRATION
1	Does France still have a population policy? GENEVIÈVE PARKES	3
2	The demographic argument in France: coherence, reference and metaphors HERVÉ LE BRAS	19
3	Marianne and the mother rabbits: feminism and natality under the Third Republic CHRISTINE BARD	34
4	In vitro fertilization in France: a feminist critique MARGARET GIBBON	49
5	Men, women, work and family size in France: a feminist perspective JAN WINDEBANK	61
6	In search of the missing female subject: comments on French migration research ELEONORE KOFMAN	78

vi Contents

7	Sexual and racial boundaries: colonialism and Franco-Algerian intermarriage (1880–1962) NEIL MACMASTER	92
8	Families on the front line. Mixed marriage in France YVETTE ROCHERON	109
PART TWO: WORK, HEALTH AND EDUCATION
9	French companies faced with an ageing workforce CATHERINE MOREL	131
10	Strands of militancy in the history of the CGT MICHEL DREYFUS	145
11	An ecologist's critique of work in France FRANÇOISE GOLLAIN	155
12	The social security headache: the necessary but elusive reform JACQUES RELAND	170
13	Government policy and higher education: the numbers game ROB TURNER	187
14	Epilogue: May in December? MICHEL DREYFUS	205
	Index	217