

Contents

Tables	x
Figures	xii
The International Business Programme	xv
Preface	xvii
Introduction: Miscellaneous international economic questions: an illustration based on a case study	1
0.1 Introduction	1
0.2 The company in its international environment	1
0.3 Questions relating to the case study	10
1 The world economy: key data and central concepts	11
1.1 Introduction	11
1.2 Volume and direction of international trade flows	11
1.3 The importance of international trade for a country	18
1.4 Volume and direction of international capital flows	21
1.5 Foreign exchange markets and exchange rates	28
1.6 Summary	34
2 The balance of payments	36
2.1 Introduction	36
2.2 Balance of payments accounting	40
2.3 The balance of payments classification	43
2.4 The balance of payments system	46
2.5 The economic interpretation of the balance of payments	49
2.6 Summary	54
3 International trade theory	56
3.1 Introduction	56
3.2 The emerging industrial countries: a case study	57
3.3 Traditional trade theories	62
3.4 Modern trade theories	73
3.5 Summary	85

4	International production factors	87
4.1	Introduction	87
4.2	The motor vehicle sector: a case study	87
4.3	International mobility of factors of production	90
4.4	International factor mobility and the distribution question	92
4.5	Inter-temporal trade	95
4.6	Summary	97
5	Direct investment and multinational enterprises	99
5.1	Introduction	99
5.2	Foreign direct investment	99
5.3	The multinational enterprise	101
5.4	The international relocation of production activities: some theories	106
5.5	Summary	113
6	Trade policy: a classic welfare theory analysis	115
6.1	Introduction	115
6.2	Protectionism	116
6.3	The optimum tariff theory	122
6.4	Volume restrictions on trade and the effect on welfare	135
6.5	Trade policy and market failures	138
6.6	Summary	141
7	Modern arguments relating to protection	142
7.1	Introduction	142
7.2	External economies of scale and the competitive position	143
7.3	Strategic trade policy	145
7.4	Summary	149
8	Trade policy and market forms: a micro-economic analysis	151
8.1	Introduction	151
8.2	The video recorder market: a case study	151
8.3	Market forms	154
8.4	Taking advantage of different national sub-markets	156
8.5	Behaviour on entering international markets under monopolistic competition	162
8.6	Oligopoly: analysis based on reaction curves	164
8.7	Duopoly: competitive behaviour on the international market	166
8.8	Summary	169

9	Trade policy and competitive behaviour: a micro-economic analysis	170
9.1	Introduction	170
9.2	Uncertainty and competitive behaviour on the international market	170
9.3	Trade policy and international duopoly	174
9.4	Escalating protection and transfer mechanisms	177
9.5	Other competitive strategies and international cartels	179
9.6	Summary	183
9.7	Appendix: Competition on price	184
10	The practice of protection	187
10.1	Introduction	187
10.2	The effectiveness of protection	189
10.3	The GATT/WTO	191
10.4	Non-tariff barriers	197
10.5	Summary	205
11	Business, government and lobbying	206
11.1	Introduction	206
11.2	The practice of lobbying: a case study	206
11.3	Political economy: demand for and supply of protection	209
11.4	Summary	215
11.5	Appendix: Competition between lobby groups	215
12	The importance of international capital flows	220
12.1	Introduction	220
12.2	Types of international capital flows	222
12.3	Arbitrage	225
12.4	Speculation	228
12.5	Portfolio diversification	229
12.6	Foreign exchange regulation	231
12.7	International capital markets and financial centres	235
12.8	Summary	238
13	The exchange rate explained	241
13.1	Introduction	241
13.2	Exchange rate concepts and presentation	244
13.3	The macro-economic framework for the exchange rate	249
13.4	Exchange rate theory: the long term	254

13.5	Exchange rate theory: the short term	260
13.6	Summary	267
14	Exchange rate effects	269
14.1	Introduction	269
14.2	International trade	269
14.3	Inflation	272
14.4	Growth and unemployment	275
14.5	Exchange rate systems and policy	276
14.6	Monetary policy	282
14.7	Fiscal policy	285
14.8	Summary	286
15	International risks: forms and cover	289
15.1	Introduction	289
15.2	Country and exchange rate risks	289
15.3	Forms of exchange rate risk	291
15.4	Hedging the country risk	297
15.5	Reducing the exchange rate risk	300
15.6	Summary	306
16	International monetary cooperation	308
16.1	The motives	308
16.2	Forms of international economic cooperation	309
16.3	International monetary cooperation prior to 1945	314
16.4	International monetary cooperation between 1945 and 1973	317
16.5	International monetary cooperation after 1973	324
16.6	Summary	329
17	The international monetary system, international debt and economic development	331
17.1	Introduction	331
17.2	The causes of the debt crisis	332
17.3	The IMF and the debt problem	342
17.4	The debt crisis	347
17.5	Transition to a market economy	353
17.6	Summary	355

18	Regional monetary integration	357
18.1	Introduction	357
18.2	The Snake	358
18.3	The Exchange Rate Mechanism of the European Monetary System	361
18.4	The ECU	368
18.5	European Economic and Monetary Union	371
18.6	The French franc zone	374
18.7	The optimum currency area theory	376
18.8	Summary	380
Index		383