
Contents

Series Foreword, Richard M. Lerner	vii
Foreword, Paul H. Mussen	xi
Preface	xvii
Chapter One: Introduction	3
Chapter Two: Problems of Definition	9
Chapter Three: The Family in Ecological Contexts	13
Evolutionary Context	13
Economic Context	16
Subcultural Context	24
Summary	29
Chapter Four: Family Contexts of Child Maltreatment	33
Maternal Youth and Inexperience	33
Single-Parent Status	35
Marital Discord and Divorce	37
Adoption and Stepfamily Status	39
Difficult Children	41
Summary	43
Chapter Five: Systems Approaches	45
Family Systems Approach to Etiology	47
Transactional Models	47
Developmental/Organizational Theory	48
Developmental Psychopathology	50
Summary	53

X Chapter Six: Childrearing Dimensions Relevant to Child
Maltreatment	55
Responsiveness	56
Warmth	56
Reciprocity	59
Attachment	59
Demandingness	61
Coerciveness	61
Confrontation	62
Monitoring	64
Inconsistent Discipline	64
Corporal Punishment	65
Patterns of Childrearing	69
Summary	71
Chapter Seven: Psychological Characteristics of Abusive
Parents	75
Psychiatric Model	75
Psychological Characteristics	76
Intergenerational Transmission of Abuse	78
Summary	80
Chapter Eight: Recommendations	83
Research on Family Life	83
Prevention/Intervention	85
Commentary, Jacquelyne Faye Jackson	89
Hit by Friendly Fire: Iatrogenic Effects of Misguided
Social Policy Interventions on African American Families
Commentary, L. Annette Abrams	101
Strengthening the Fabric of Child and Family
Policies: Interweaving the Threads of Research
References	117
Afterword, Richard M. Lerner	141
Contributors	167
Subject Index	169
Author Index	173