Contents

List of figures xi

List of tables xiii

Preface xv

Acknowledgements xvii

1 Corporate headquarters staff: the international scene 1

1.1 The international research programme 3
1.2 An outline of this guide 5

2 The concept of corporate headquarters 7

2.1 Theories of corporate headquarters 10
2.2 Three roles of corporate headquarters 10
2.3 Corporate strategy 12

3 The structure, staffing and roles of headquarters 15

3.1 Different types of headquarters 17
3.2 The size of corporate headquarters 21
3.3 Composition of corporate headquarters 24
3.4 Staffing of corporate functions 26
3.5 Roles of headquarters staff 27
3.6 The size of divisional headquarters 32
3.7 Outsourcing 33

4 Change and effectiveness 37

4.1 The overall pattern of change 39
4.2 Drivers of change 41
4.3 Two patterns of change 43
4.4 Headquarters effectiveness and headquarters size 46

5 The factors that shape corporate headquarters 51

5.1 Introduction 53
5.2 Company size 55
5.3 Influencing and policy making 60
5.4 Service provision 63
5.5 Linkages between divisions 64
5.6 Other factors 66

6 Headquarters country by country 75

6.1 Europe 77
6.2 The USA 89
6.3 Japan 93
6.4 Chile 97
6.5 Summary 101

7 Conclusions and implications 103

7.1 Key findings 105
7.2 Implications for designing corporate headquarters 110

Appendices

A The companies in the surveys 119
B Embedded versus separate headquarters 133
C Headquarters sector by sector 139
D The surveys and their analysis 151
E Contacts and publications 171

List of figures

1.1	The surveys of corporate headquarters	4
2.1	Three roles of corporate headquarters	11
2.2	Headquarters and corporate strategy	12
3.1	Separate and embedded headquarters	17
3.2	Proportions of companies with embedded headquarters	19
3.3	Staffing of the minimum corporate parent role	28
3.4	Staffing of the discretionary roles	28
3.5	Assessment of divisional performance	31
4.1	Reported changes over the previous five years	40
4.2	Anticipated changes in the next five years	41
4.3	Concerns and the direction of change over the previous five years	44
4.4	Concerns and anticipated changes over the next five years	45
4.5	Headquarters staffing and cost-effectiveness	46
4.6	Headquarters staffing and profitability	47
4.7	Headquarters staffing and shareholder return	48
5.1	The basic framework	54
5.2	The four key factors	54
5.3	Number of headquarters staff	56
5.4	Proportion of employees working in corporate headquarters	57
5.5	Incidence of corporate R&D functions	58
5.6	Staff in the minimum corporate parent role	59
5.7	Headquarters staff and turnover per employee	59
5.8	Headquarters staff and functional influence	61
5.9	Centralisation of information systems activity	62
5.10	Functional influence and relatedness	63
5.11	Headquarters staff and percentage of service staff	64
5.12	Headquarters staff and linkages	65
5.13	Headquarters size versus ownership and regulation	66
5.14	Headquarters size versus business sector	69
5.15	Influence over R&D decisions versus importance of R&D (Europe)	70
5.16	Headquarters size versus geographical spread	71

5.17	Corporate versus divisional headquarters staffing in Europe	72
5.18	Headquarters size versus approach to assessment of performance	73
5.19	Function staff and outsourcing in Europe	74
6.1	Reductions in headquarters staff in privatised French companies	80
6.2	UK headquarters staff in 1998 versus 1993	87
6.3	Government owned and privatised UK companies	88
6.4	Staffing of information systems functions in the USA	93
7.1	A ready reckoner for staffing in the minimum corporate parent role	113
A.1	Trend in number of employees	122
A.2	Geographical spread	124
A.3	Number of divisions	126
A.4	Average relatedness scores	128
A.5	Average linkage scores	129

List of tables

3.1	Number of headquarters staff	19
3.2	Financial services companies versus industrial companies	20
3.3	Headquarters staffing versus company size	22
3.4	The cost of corporate headquarters	23
3.5	The cost per headquarters staff member	24
3.6	Number of headquarters locations	24
3.7	Functions included in corporate headquarters	25
3.8	The staffing of corporate headquarters functions	27
3.9	Influence of headquarters on major divisional decisions	30
3.10	Service staff in corporate headquarters functions	32
3.11	Divisional headquarters staff	33
3.12	Outsourcing of headquarters activities	34
4.1	Drivers of past change	42
4.2	Drivers of future change: assessments of current headquarters effectiveness	42
4.3	Cuts in headquarters staff	43
5.1	Headquarters of privatised and regulated companies	67
6.1	Corporate functions in the USA and Europe	92
A.1	Ownership and regulation	119
A.2	Privatisation	120
A.3	Business sectors	120
A.4	Critical success factors	121
A.5	Number of employees	121
A.6	Turnover per employee	123
A.7	Number of business units	123
A.8	Geographical spread versus company size	124
A.9	Company structure	125
A.10	Size of the largest division	126
A.11	Relatedness of divisions	127
A.12	Linkages between divisions	129
A.13	Financial performance	130

B.1 Numbers of separate and embedded headquarters 133
B.2 Total headquarters staff 134
B.3 Functions included in corporate headquarters 136
B.4 The staffing of corporate headquarters functions 137
C.1 Numbers of companies and numbers of employees 139
C.2 Total headquarters staff 140
C.3 Staffing of the minimum corporate parent role 140
C.4 Staffing of the discretionary roles 141
C.5 Functional influence scores 141
C.6 Functions included in corporate headquarters – Europe 142
C.7 Functions included in corporate headquarters – USA 143
C.8 Functions included in corporate headquarters – Japan 144
C.9 Staffing of headquarters functions per 1000 employees – Europe 145
C.10 Staffing of headquarters functions per 1000 employees – USA 146
C.11 Staffing of headquarters functions per 1000 employees – Japan 147
C.12 Numbers of companies 148
C.13 Headquarters staffing 148
C.14 Functions included in corporate headquarters 149
C.15 Staffing of headquarters functions 150
D.1 Statistical model for headquarters staff 154
D.2 Differences from UK questionnaire – USA and Japan 156
D.3 Headquarters function headings by country 157