

CONTENTS

List of illustrations	page x
Foreword	xv
Brief chronology of the history of the counts and dukes of Guelders	xvii
List of abbreviations	xxi
INTRODUCTION	I
Part I The court
1 THE SOCIAL FRAMEWORK: FUNCTIONS AND FUNCTIONARIES	21
2 A MEDIUM-SIZED COURT ON ITS TRAVELS	59
3 FINANCES AT THE COURT: IN SEARCH OF MONEY	89
4 THE IDEAL PRINCE	108
Part II The arts
5 MUSIC AND MUSICIANS	149
6 LITERATURE: THE WRITTEN AND THE SPOKEN WORD	173
7 BOOKS: READERS, WRITERS AND ILLUMINATORS	220
8 VISUAL AND APPLIED ARTS	260
Part III Court culture
9 CONSTRUCTION AND CONSOLIDATION: THE DUKE AND HIS COURT	309
10 CONSTRUCTION AND CONSOLIDATION: THE DUKES AND THE WIDER CONTEXT	344
11 COURT CULTURE AND THE FORMING OF A 'TERRITORIAL' CONSCIOUSNESS	390
APPENDIX: A RECONSTRUCTION OF THE BOOK COLLECTION OF DUKE ARNOLD AND DUCHESS CATHERINE	424
Sources and bibliography	427
Index	455

ILLUSTRATIONS

- | | |
|--|---------------|
| 1. Duke Edward of Guelders is mortally wounded on the battlefield after the victory over the duke of Brabant in 1371. J. H. Egenberger (1822–97). Amsterdams Historisch Museum, inv. no. SA 4889 | page 2 |
| 2. Elegant courtly company, likely to be courtiers at the court of the duke of Guelders, c. 1415. Uppsala, University Library | 24 |
| 3. Charter of elevation of 1339 by the German emperor Louis of Bavaria. Arnhem, Rijksarchief in Gelderland, inv. no. Charters München 68A | 31 |
| 4. Duke William pleads for his cousin Hendrik van Steenberghe to be elected bishop of Utrecht. J. H. Egenberger (1822–97). Amsterdams Historisch Museum, inv. no. SA 4892 | 51 |
| 5. Chancellor Sir Pieter van der Moelen, kneeling beside the Virgin Mary. Oil on panel, Treasury of the cathedral of Liège | 57 |
| 6. Rozendaal Castle, near Arnhem. The only medieval remains of the once imposing castle is the round tower | 70 |
| 7. The first general assembly of the estates of the four Quarters of Guelders in the duke's court in Arnhem (1418). J. H. Egenberger (1822–97). Amsterdams Historisch Museum, inv. no. SA 4893 | 74 |
| 8. Lobith Castle at the border of the river Waal (Rhine). Private collection of Stefan Frankewitz, Geldern | 80 |
| 9. The ducal court of Arnhem in 1742, by Jan de Beijer (1703–80). Gemeentemuseum Arnhem, inv. no. GM 8380b | 81 |
| 10. The collegiate church of St Walburgis in Arnhem in 1737 by Jan de Beijer (1703–80). Gemeentemuseum Arnhem, inv. no. GM 8457a | 82 |

Illustrations

11. The town of Nijmegen and the Valkhof, seen from the north in 1575, by Frans van Hogenberg and Georg Braun. Nijmegen, Museum het Valkhof, inv. no. xv D 4 86
12. Page from the account-book of the receiver-general of 1394. Arnhem, Rijksarchief in Gelderland, inv. no. RAG HA 224, ff. 106v-107r 99
13. A man (knight?) kneels for a lady, seated on a bench, 1270-90. Hanover, Niedersächsische Landesbibliothek, Handschrift MS IV, 369, p. 206 114
14. First page of the Dialogus super iure ducatus Gelrie, by Theodericus de Novimagio, 1509. Arnhem, Rijksarchief in Gelderland, inv. no. Aanwinsten 1948 III, no. 5 118
15. Gelre Herald, alias Claes Heynenzoon. (Self?) portrait from the Guelders Armorial end of the fourteenth century. Brussels, Royal Library Albert I, inv. no. MS 15652-56, f. 122r 121
16. Duke Arnold of Egmond, seventeenth-century etching. Collection Historischer Verein für Geldern und Umgegend, Geldern 125
17. St Jerome stretching his hand to remove a thorn from a lion's paw. Book of hours of Catherine of Cleves, c. 1440. New York, Pierpont Morgan Library, inv. no. M 917, p. 242 142
18. Coats of arms of the duke of Guelders and his major vassals. Guelders Armorial, end of the fourteenth-century. Brussels, Royal Library Albert I, inv. no. MS 15652-56, ff. 88v-89r 180
19. Opening pages of the travel-book and description of the Holy Land. The Hague, Royal Library, inv. no. Hs 75 H 36, ff. 1v-2r 202
20. Duke Arnold is captured during his sleep by his son Adolf in 1465. Barend Wijnveld (1820-1902). Amsterdams Historisch Museum, inv. no. SA 5007 204
21. Charles the Bold, duke of Burgundy, as a youth, drawing c. 1450. Arnhem, Gemeentemuseum inv. no. GM 1100 210
22. The German emperor and the seven Electors. Guelders Armorial, end of the fourteenth century. Brussels, Royal Library Albert I, inv. no. MS 15652-56, f. 26r 221
23. Mary of Harcourt, reading a book in a walled garden. Prayer-book, 1415. Berlin, Staatsbibliothek, Preußischer

Illustrations

- Kulturbesitz, Handschriftenabteilung, inv. no. MS Germ. Qu 42 f. 19v. 224
24. Christ taken down from the cross. Prayer-book, 1415. Berlin, Staatsbibliothek, Preußischer Kulturbesitz, Handschriftenabteilung, inv. no. MS Germ. Qu 42, f. 36r 226
25. Duke Arnold as a donor, kneeling before St Nicholas. Egmond Breviary (c. 1430–40). New York, Pierpont Morgan Library, inv. no. M 87, f. 324r 229
26. Duchess Catherine of Cleves as a donor, kneeling before Mary and the Christ-Child. Book of hours of Catherine of Cleves, c. 1440. New York, Pierpont Morgan Library, inv. no. M 945, f. 1v 232
27. A stairway of salvation. Book of hours of Catherine of Cleves (c. 1440). New York, Pierpont Morgan Library, inv. no. M 917, p. 160 233
28. A man, perhaps Duke Arnold, kneeling before Christ who is shown with his attributes as Judge. Book of hours of Catherine of Cleves, c. 1440. New York, Pierpont Morgan Library, inv. no. M 917, p. 68 235
29. Ridderbouck. Manuscript from the ducal chancery with notes on the bannerets and knightly class of Guelders, 1555. Arnhem, Rijksarchief in Gelderland 238
30. Votive panel of Catherine of Guelders, illegitimite daughter of Duke Adolf, prioress of the Nazareth Convent in Geldern, after 1500. Geldern, parish church of St Mary Magdalen. Photo: Stefan Frankewitz 262
31. State portrait of Duke Charles of Egmond, sixteenth century. Arnhem, Historisch Museum, inv. no. GM 2882 264
32. William II the Rich, duke of Cleves, Juliers, Berg and, from 1538 until 1543, duke of Guelders. Heinrich Aldegrevier, 1540. Amsterdam, Rijksmuseum, inv. no. RP-P-OB-2807 265
33. Two panels (the Nativity and St Christopher) from a travelling altar, c. 1400. Antwerp, Museum Mayer van der Bergh, inv. no. 1, Catalogue no. 1, 374. 269
34. Engraved portrait of Duchess Catherine of Bourbon (d. 1469) on her tomb in the choir of St Stephan's Church in Nijmegen. Willem Loemans, before 1510. Photo: Rijksdienst voor de Monumentenzorg, Zeist 284
35. Engraved brass of Catherine of Guelders (d. 1497), sister of Duke Adolf, regent between 1477 and 1479 and

- guardian of Adolf's under-age children. Willem Loemans, c. 1500. Geldern, parish church of St Mary Magdalen.
Photo: Stefan Frankewitz 286
36. Mausoleum of Duke Charles of Egmond (d. 1538) in the church of St Eusebius in Arnhem, erected between 1538 and 1543. Photo: Rijksdienst voor de Monumentenzorg, Zeist 287
37. Chalice with the heraldic arms of Duchess Catherine of Cleves, between 1433 and 1466. Munich, Bayerisches Nationalmuseum, inv. no. MA 3541 289
38. Jewel-box of Mechteld of Guelders, c. 1350. Düsseldorf, Kunstmuseum, inv. no. P. 1929-145 290
39. Duchess Catherine of Cleves as the personification of charity. Book of hours of Catherine of Cleves (c. 1440). New York, Pierpont Morgan Library, inv. no. M 917, p. 65 313
40. The Valkhof in Nijmegen, c. 1733. Drawing by Cornelis Pronk (1691-1759), Arnhem Gemeentemuseum inv. no. GM 10.196 323
41. Scene from a requiem mass. Book of hours of Catherine of Cleves (c. 1440). New York, Pierpont Morgan Library, inv. no. M 945, f. 169r 341
42. Death of Duke Adolf, in 1477, in a battle against French troops before the town walls of Tournai. Paul Tétar van Elven (1823-96). Amsterdams Historisch Museum, inv. no. SA 4871 345
43. The old market square (alden merct) of Arnhem in 1742, by Jan de Beijer (1703-80). Gemeentemuseum Arnhem, inv. no. GM 11.454 350
44. King James II of Scotland (1430-60) and his wife Mary of Guelders (1433-63), Seton Armorial, early sixteenth century. Edinburgh, National Library of Scotland, Acc. 9309, f. 15. 374
45. Duke Adolf as knight of the Order of the Golden Fleece, c. 1468. The Hague, Royal Library, inv. no. Hs 76 E 10, f. 67v 387
46. The Dragon Saga (Draco Gelricus), c. 1560. Erkelenz, Stadtarchiv. Photo: Stefan Frankewitz 410
47. Duke William kneeling before King Charles VI of France during a campaign against Guelders and Juliers in 1388. Dutch translation of the Chronicles of Jean Froissart,

Illustrations

c. 1450. The Hague, Royal Library, inv. no. Hs 130 B 21, f. 359r	412
48. Great seal of the town of Zaltbommel. Zaltbommel, Maarten van Rossummuseum, inv. no. 2312	415
49. Willem van Berchen, De nobili principatu Gelrie et eius origine , c. 1481. Hamburg, Staats- und Universitätsbibliothek, inv. no. Cod. Hist. 31b, f. 214v	420
Figure 1 Genealogical tree of the dukes of Guelders, counts of Zutphen	13
Figure 2 Map of the duchy (drawing by Vincent Boele)	16