

Contents

	Figures	ix
	Tables	xi
	Foreword William H. Newman	xiii
	Preface	xv
	Acknowledgments	xvii
Chapter 1	Issues of Vertical-Integration Strategy	1
	The Benefits of Vertical Integration	3
	Motives for Vertical Integration: Where Previous Studies Fail	6
	The Research Problem	9
Chapter 2	The Model of Vertical-Integration Strategy: The Conceptual Framework	15
	What are the Alternatives?	15
	Predictive Variables for Vertical-Integration Strategies	22
	A Simplified Strategy Framework	43
Chapter 3	Methodology of the Research into Vertical- Integration Strategies	53
	Selection of the Sample	53
	Field-Research Procedures	55
	A Description of the Data	57
	Limitation of the Data	58
	Advantages of the Research Methodology	58
Chapter 4	Strategies for Vertical Integration in Declining Industries	61
	Overview of the Declining-Business Study	61
	Comparison of Findings in the Declining- Business Study with the Strategy Matrix's Predictions	69

	Overview of the Industry Studies and Strategies for Vertical Integration	72
Chapter 5	Strategies for Vertical Integration in the Petroleum-Refining Industry	73
	A Description of the U.S. Petroleum-Refining Industry	73
	Key Events in the Refining Industry	87
	Analysis of Strategies for Vertical Integration in Refining	103
Chapter 6	Strategies for Vertical Integration in the Whiskey Industry	115
	A Description of the Whiskey Industry	115
	Key Events in the Whiskey Industry	124
	Analysis of Strategies for Vertical Integration in the Whiskey Industry	136
Chapter 7	Strategies for Vertical Integration in the Tailored-Suits Industry	147
	A Description of the Tailored-Suits Industry	147
	Key Events in the Tailored-Suits Industry	155
	Analysis of Strategies for Vertical Integration in Tailored Suits	166
Chapter 8	Strategies for Vertical Integration in the Ethical-Pharmaceuticals Industry	177
	A Description of the Ethical-Pharmaceuticals Industry	177
	Key Events in the Pharmaceuticals Industry	189
	Analysis of Strategies for Vertical Integration in Pharmaceuticals	199
Chapter 9	Strategies for Vertical Integration in Genetic Engineering	209
	A Description of Genetic Engineering	209
	Key Events in Genetic Engineering	223
	Analysis of Strategies for Vertical Integration in Genetic Engineering	232
Chapter 10	Strategies for Vertical Integration in the Personal Microcomputer Industry	243

	A Description of the Personal Microcomputer Industry	243
	Key Events in the Personal Microcomputer Industry	255
	Analysis of Strategies for Vertical Integration in the Personal Microcomputer Industry	266
Chapter 11	Strategies for Vertical Integration in Embryonic Energy Industries	277
	A Description of the Embryonic Energy Industries in 1981	277
	Key Events in Coal Gasification and Residential Solar Heating	290
	Analysis of Strategies for Vertical Integration in Embryonic Energy Industries	301
Chapter 12	Generalization concerning Strategies for Vertical Integration	315
	A Restatement of Hypotheses	315
	Findings Regarding the Research Questions	316
	Analysis of the Findings
Chapter 13	Policy Implications of the Study of Vertical Strategies	339
	Insights and Questions Raised by Research Results	339
	Summary of Findings	341
	Implications for Business Strategies	342
	Implications for Academic Research	344
	Areas of Further Research	345
	Implications for Public Policymakers	345
	Bibliography	349
	Index	367
	About the Author	373

Figures

1-1	Variables Predicting Changes in Strategies for Vertical Integration	10
2-1	An Illustration of Generic Strategies	19
2-2	Degree of Internal Integration Hypothesized to be Most Appropriate as Industries Develop	24
2-3	Factors Determining Volatility of Industry Structure	27
2-4	Degree of Internal Integration and Ownership Hypothesized to be Most Appropriate per Phase of Industry Development and Volatility of Industry Structure	34
2-5	Factors Determining Company's Bargaining Power	35
2-6	Strategy Objectives	38
2-7	Appropriate Degree of Internal Integration per Degree of Industry Volatility and Business-Unit Objectives	40
2-8	An Illustration of the Strategy Framework for Vertical Integration within Embryonic Industries	43
2-9	An Illustration of the Strategy Framework for Vertical Integration within Emerging Industries	44
2-10	An Illustration of the Strategy Framework for Vertical Integration within Established Industries	45
2-11	An Illustration of the Strategy Framework for Vertical Integration within Endgame Industries	46
3-1	A Taxonomy for Classifying the Industries Whose Members Were Interviewed in the Study of Vertical-Integration Strategies	54
3-2	A Taxonomy of the Industries Whose Members Were Included in the Study of Vertical-Integration Strategies	55
3-3	A Taxonomy of Some Industries Whose Members Were Interviewed in the Study of Vertical-Integration Strategies	56

5-1	A Mapping of Selected Competitors in U.S. Refining, 1981	88
6-1	A Mapping of Competitors in Whiskey, 1981	124
7-1	A Mapping of Selected Competitors in Tailored Suits, 1981	155
8-1	A Mapping of Selected Firms in the Ethical-Pharmaceuticals Industry	190
9-1	A Mapping of Selected Competitors in Genetic Engineering, 1981	222
10-1	A Mapping of Firms in Personal Computers, 1981	256
11-1	A Mapping of Firms in Coal Gasification, 1981	287
11-2	A Mapping of Selected Competitors in the Residential-Solar-Heating Industry, 1981	290

Tables

5-1	Domestic Production of Refined Products	76
5-2	Comparison of Selected 1979 and 1980 Data on Oil and Gas Production (Domestic Only)	78
5-3	Large U.S. Refineries, 1978-1981	85
6-1	Sales of Total Distilled Spirits	118
6-2	Estimated 1981 Market Shares for Sales of Whiskies Numbered among the Top Fifteen Sellers of All Liquor Brands	122
7-1	Suit Brands by Estimated Quality Grades, 1981	148
7-2	Branded Suits and Manufacturing Firms	153
8-1	Major Categories of Ethical-Pharmaceutical Use and Example Brands	178
8-2	Selected Leading Pharmaceutical Companies by Therapeutic Areas in the United States	188
9-1	A Ranking of Genetic-Engineering Firms, December 1981	218
9-2	Equity Investments or Marketing Rights (MR) in Selected Genetic-Engineering Firms, December 1981	219
9-3	Joint-Venture Involvement of Japanese Firms in U.S. Biotechnology	231
10-1	Estimated Installed Base of Personal Computers, December 1981	246
10-2	Measures of Competitive Performance among Selected Personal-Computer Firms, December 1981	253
11-1	Estimated Performance of Selected Solar Firms, December 1981	288
12-1	Regressions on Degree, Breadth, Stages, and Form of Vertical Integration	335