

Contents

List of Tables	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
1. Introduction: Population as Politics	1
2. Problematique: Governmentalization of Population	19
PART ONE Policy Formulation and Implementation
Introduction: Policy Actors and Policy Components	47
3. The Mao Era: From Soft Birth Control to Hard Birth Planning	55
4. The Deng Era: Rising Enforcement of Hard Birth Planning	93
5. The Jiang Era: Deepening Reform of Hard Birth Planning	131
6. The Hu Era: From Comprehensive Reform to Social Policy	166
PART TWO Social and Political Consequences
Introduction: Social Politics and Cultural Logics	205
7. The Shifting Local Politics of Population	212
8. Restratisfying Chinese Society	245
9. Remaking China's Politics and Global Position	285
10. Conclusion: Lenin, Foucault, and the Governance of Population in China	310
Notes	335
Abbreviations	343
References	347
Index	377

List of Tables

1. Basic Demographic Data for the PRC, 1949–2001 17
2. Heilongjiang Population and Birth Policy Reforms 201
3. Childbearing Preferences, 2001 228
4. Sterilizations, 1971–2001 257
5. Abortions, 1971–2001 260
6. Sex Ratio at Birth and in Early Childhood, 1953–1999 266
7. Sex Ratio at Birth, by Province and Rural/Urban, 1999 267
8. China 2000: An Increasingly Modern, Global Society 303