

Contents

	Preface	VII
	Contributors to this volume	IX
1	Towards a sociological understanding of football hooliganism as a world phenomenon ERIC DUNNING, PATRICK MURPHY AND IVAN WADDINGTON	1
2	'Aguante' and repression: football, politics and violence in Argentina PABLO ALABARCES	23
3	Australian soccer's 'ethnic' tribes: a new case for the carnivalesque JOHN HUGHSON	37
4	Bohemian rhapsody: football supporters in the Czech Republic VIC DUKE AND PAVEL SLEPIČKA	49
5	Another side to French exceptionalism: football without hooligans? PATRICK MIGNON	62
6	Football hooliganism in Germany: a developmental sociological study HUBERT DWERTMANN AND BERO RIGAUER	75
7	Subcultures of hard-core fans in West Attica: an analysis of some central research findings ANTONIOS E. ASTRINAKIS	88
8	Football's fighting fans: the Hungarian case ORSOLYA PINTÉR AND JAN VAN GESTEL	106
9	The dog that didn't bark? Football hooliganism in Ireland ALAN BAIRNER	118
10	Italian ultras today: change or decline? ANTONIO ROVERSI AND CARLO BALESTRI	131
11	Barras Bravas: representation and crowd violence in Peruvian football ALDO PANFICHI AND JORGE THIEROLDT	143

12	Violent disturbances in Portuguese football SALOMÉ MARIVOET	158
13	The 'black cat' of South African soccer and the Chiefs–Pirates conflict CORA BURNETT	174
14	Soccer spectators and fans in Japan YOSHIO TAKAHASHI	190
15	A walk on the wild side: exposing North American sports crowd disorder KEVIN YOUNG	201
16	Towards a global programme of research into fighting and disorder at football ERIC DUNNING, PATRICK MURPHY AND IVAN WADDINGTON	218
	Notes	225
	Bibliography	234
	Index	251