

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: Chinese Culture and Communication: Diverse Contexts and Comparison with the West
Xing Lu	1
Part I: Chinese Culture and Modernization
Chapter 1 Revolution and Us: A Cultural Rendition of Political Movements in Contemporary China
Ling Chen	17
Chapter 2 Culture and Modernization: The Case of the People's Republic of China
Rita Mei-Ching Ng	33
Chapter 3 The Problem of the Public: John Dewey's Theory of Communication and Its Influence on Modern Chinese Communication
Changfu Chang	47

Chapter 4	Chinese Culture and Its (Post)Modern Fate: Three Debates and One Critique
	Changfu Chang	65

Part II: Chinese Communication in Gender, Family, and Media Contexts

Chapter 5	Women and the Rhetorical Tradition in Premodern China: A Preliminary Sketch
	Mary M. Garrett	87

Chapter 6	Creating a Female Language: Symbolic Transformation Embedded in Nushu
	Lin-Lee Lee	101

Chapter 7	Hierarchy Is Not Harmony: A View of the Traditional Chinese Family
	Omar Swartz	119

/ Chapter 8	Chinese Family Consumer Socialization: A Study of Chinese Urban Adolescents' Involvement in Family Purchasing Activities
	Qingwen Dong	135

Chapter 9	Karaoke as a Form of Communication in the Public and Interpersonal Contexts of Taiwan
	Ringo Ma and Rueyling Chuang	147

Chapter 10	Market and Politics: Hong Kong Press during Sovereignty Transfer
	Anthony Y. H. Fung and Chin-Chuan Lee	165

Part III: Comparison between Chinese and Western Communication

Chapter 11	Humanism and Human Rights: A Comparison between the Occidental and Oriental Traditions
	Mei-Ling Wang	181

Chapter 12	Talking Cultures: A Comparative Analysis of Chinese and U.S. American Stories about Human Rights
	Jing Yin and Bradford 'J' Hall	197
Chapter 13	Comparison of Chinese and American Views on World Opinion: A Rhetorical Study of Media Reports
	Minmin Wang	213
Chapter 14	Pan Gu's Paradigm: Chinese Education's Return to Holistic Communication in Learning
	Scott C. Hammond and Hongmei Gao	227
Chapter 15	Chinese Rhetoric through Chinese Textbooks: Uniquely Chinese?
	Andy Kirkpatrick	245
	Author Index	261
	Subject Index	269
	About the Editors and Contributors	275