
Contents

Acknowledgements	page	vi
1 Introduction: 1780–1850s		1
(i) Differing perspectives of childhood and child employment		1
(ii) The scale and nature of child employment		4
2 The impact of industrialization: 1780–1850s		12
(i) ‘Traditional’ employments		12
(ii) The factory system and textile production		18
(iii) Mining, metalwork and miscellaneous manufactures		27
3 Rescue and reform: 1830–1867		35
(i) State intervention: its scope and limitations		35
(ii) Philanthropy and childhood deprivation		45
4 Work and welfare: 1868–1880s		59
Conclusion: the working-class child in the 1880s		69
Appendices		72
Select bibliography		75
Index		83