

---

CONTENTS - PART 1

1. Market and opinion research: definition and organization	15
1.1 The purpose of research	16
1.2 Market and opinion research: defining the concepts	18
1.3 Marketing	19
1.4 Non-marketing research	21
1.5 The partners in market research	22
1.6 Summary	24
Appendix:
Market research associations	25
2. The market research proces	29
2.1 The need for market research	30
2.2 Steps in market research	32
2.3 Forms of market research	34
2.3.1 Quantitative and qualitative research	34
2.3.2 Types of respondents	36
2.3.3 The object of research	36
2.3.4 Public research	36
2.3.5 Individual and collective research	37
2.4 Summary	38
3. Methods of field research	39
3.1 Basic types of field research	40
3.2 Quantitative and qualitative interviews	43
3.3 Ad hoc and continuous research	44
3.4 Other forms of fieldwork	47
3.5 Summary	47
4. The Respondent	49
4.1 Respondents' characteristics	50
4.2 Samples	52
4.3 Non-response	56
4.4 Summary	58

---

---

5. The Questionnaire	59
5.1 The design of the questionnaire	60
5.2 Areas of questioning	61
5.3 The formulation of questions	63
5.4 Types of questions	65
5.5 Scales	68
5.6 Visual material	69
5.7 Questionnaire routing	70
5.8 Testing questionnaires	70
5.9 Summary	71
6. The processing and reporting of research results	73
6.1 Specifications of a market research report	74
6.2 Determining the sample size	75
6.3 Controlling the fieldwork	77
6.4 Processing, coding and tabulating questionnaires	77
6.5 Reporting	80
6.6 Presentation	81
6.7 Publication of the research results	82
6.8 Summary	83
7. Interviewing	85
7.1 Interviewing as a profession	86
7.2 Briefing instruction by the market research agency	87
7.3 Approaching respondents	88
7.4 Creating optimum conditions for an interview	91
7.5 Conducting an interview	93
7.6 Summary	95
8. Specific groups of respondents and forms of research	97
8.1 Consumers as respondents	98
8.2 Heads of families, heads of households and housewives	98
8.3 Children, young people and senior citizens	100
8.4 Special consumer groups as respondents	102
8.5 Professional groups as respondents	103
8.6 Specific forms of research	105
8.7 Image research	105

---

---

8.8	Product, price, and distribution research	105
8.9	Advertising and media research	106
8.10	Government research and opinion polls	108
8.11	Summary	109
9.	Codes and guidelines in market research	111
9.1	ICC/ESOMAR International Code of Practice	112
9.2	Privacy protection legislation on data privacy	114
9.3	Agreements between interviewers and market research agencies	115
9.4	Summary	116
	Appendices:
1.	Bibliography	117
2.	ICC/ESOMAR International Code of Marketing and Social Research Practice	118

---

CONTENTS - PART 2

Examination documents for the Market Research Interviewer Examination held in The Netherlands

1.	Introduction	128
2.	Regulations for the Examination (Theoretical and Practical parts)	129
3.	Examination requirements (Theoretical part)	132
4.	Examples of questions used for the Examination (Theoretical part)	137
5.	Instructions for the Examiner and Co-Examiner	142
6.	Evaluation Form (Practical part)	145
7.	Answers to questions	147

---