

Contents

Foreword	vii
Brief chronology of Hungarian history since the nineteenth century	xiv
Preface	xvi
Introduction	1
• Modernity, liberalism, antisemitism and nationalism • Nationalism—East and West • Antisemitism—modern anti- semitism • Assimilation
PART ONE: INCLUSION	25
1 Modernisation in Hungary	27
• The age of founding: economy in the Monarchy • Hungarian society • The historical development of Hungarian nationalism • The making of a modern nation-state: the role of language and culture • The gentrification of culture • Nationalism and modernisation
2 The ‘Golden Age’ of security	52
• Hungarian society and the Jews: emancipation, assimilation and antisemitism • The emancipation of Jews and the ‘Jewish question’ in Hungary • The evolution of modern antisemitism in Hungary • The ‘Jewish question’—a public opinion poll • Assimilation versus tradition • The split of the community
PART TWO: EXCLUSION	83
3 Constitutional protofascism: the emergence of the ethos of exclusion	85
• Defining historical events • Post-Trianon Hungary • The rise

of the extreme right • The Christian national principle • 'Populists' and 'urbanists' • A radical historian and a racist writer • Fascism
4 The end of the assimilationist 'contract'	113
• Assimilation patterns in the Horthy era • Politics and identity: nationalism, internationalism and Zionism • Nationalism versus internationalism • Jewish revolutionaries • The image of change
PART THREE: THE HOLOCAUST IN HUNGARY	133
5 The process of exclusion and Hungarian society	135
• The stages of exclusion • Historical overview • Institutionalising antisemitism—the anti-Jewish legislation • Hungarian society and the exclusionary legislation • The peculiarities of the Holocaust in Hungary • Hungarian society and the persecution of Jews • Administration and other institutions • A question of evil—the ethics of obedience • The politics of the intellectuals
6 The process of exclusion and the Jewish community	167
• Historical overview • The Hungarian Jewish community and its leadership • Responses to the anti-Jewish legislation • The controversy over the role of the Jewish leadership • The Hungarian Jewish leadership during the Holocaust • 'Sheep to the slaughter'?—the community
7 The aftermath	189
8 Nationalism, antisemitism and assimilation	201
• The paradox of assimilation • The paradox of emancipation • Hungarian specificities • Postmodern antisemitism • Nationalism and identity in Hungary • Hatred as political ethos, the law and the state
Notes	220
Bibliography	246
Index	259