

Contents

List of illustrations	vii
List of contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xi

PART I

Introduction	1
---------------------	----------

1 Renegotiating the welfare state through corporatist concertation: an introduction	3
FRANS VAN WAARDEN

PART II

Countries with traditions of corporatist concertation	31
--	-----------

2 The resurgence of Dutch corporatist policy coordination in an age of globalization	33
ANTON HEMERIJCK
3 The societal and historical embeddedness of Dutch corporatism	70
FRANS VAN WAARDEN
4 Austrian social partnership: just a midlife crisis?	97
BRIITTE UNGER
5 Nordic corporatism and welfare state reforms: Denmark and Sweden compared	114
SVEN JOCHEM
6 Welfare state adjustment between consensual and adversarial politics: the institutional context of reform in Germany	142
GERHARD LEHMBRUCH

7 Renegotiating the Swiss welfare state	169
KLAUS ARMINGEON
 PART III
Countries without historical corporatist traditions	189
 8 'Bargaining Celtic style': the global economy and negotiated governance in Ireland	191
GEORGE TAYLOR
 9 The negotiator as auctioneer. Wage centralization and wage flexibility: a comparison of corporatist and non-corporatist countries	225
COEN TEULINGS
 PART IV
European corporatism?	251
 10 Renegotiating social and labour policies in the European multi-level system: any role for corporatist patterns?	253
GERDA FALKNER
 11 The renaissance of national corporatism: unintended side-effect of European economic and monetary union, or calculated response to the absence of European social policy?	279
JÜRGEN GROTE AND PHILIPPE SCHMITTER
 Index	303

Illustrations

Figures

5.1	Wage growth and centralization of the wage bargaining system in Sweden, 1984–93	124
5.2	Wage growth and centralization of the wage bargaining system in Denmark, 1984–93	130
9.1	Positions on wage demands of employers and employees during negotiations	230
9.2	Specific and aggregate shocks and adjustments of the wage contract	237

Tables

1.1	Varieties of welfare states	4–5
2.1	Economic performance of the Netherlands in comparison to the European Union	35
2.2	Employment growth in the Netherlands, the European Union and selected OECD countries, 1983–2000	35
2.3	Unemployment in the Netherlands, the European Union and selected OECD countries, 1983–99	36
2.4	Incidence of part-time employment in the Netherlands and selected OECD countries, by sex, 1983–99	37
2.5	Employment/population ratios by sex in the Netherlands, the European Union and selected OECD countries, 1983–99	38
2.6	Average annual working hours per employee in the Netherlands and in selected OECD countries, 1973–99	38
2.7	The unemployment and employment/population ratios for men, 55 to 65, 1983–99	39
2.8	Long-term unemployment in the Netherlands and in selected OECD countries, percentage unemployed longer than 12 months, 1983–99	40
3.1	Dutch associability compared to other European countries	79
5.1	Economic performance in Denmark and Sweden	119

5.2	Public finances and the welfare state in Denmark and Sweden	120
5.3	Labour market performance in Denmark and Sweden	121
5.4	Major welfare state reforms in Sweden	126-7
5.5	Major welfare state reforms in Denmark	133
7.1	Degree of difficulty in macro-economic steering and centralization of public finances, 1995	181
8.1	At what level is basic pay determined?	202
8.2	Breakdown of clause 3 agreements	202
8.3	How the 3 per cent was applied	203
8.4	Has there been a change in the use of the following working arrangements over last three years?	204
8.5	Number of strikes and working days lost during a six-year period of decentralized wage bargaining, 1982-7	204
8.6	Number of strikes and work days lost during the six-year period of PNR/PESP (1988-93)	205
8.7	Number of strikes which commenced in the period of 1987-91	205
8.8	Days lost due to strikes in the period 1987-91	205
8.9	Settlement of industrial disputes in the public and private sector	206
8.10	Industrial disputes, 1993-8	207
9.1	The distribution of incidental wage increases in the Netherlands, 1991-2	231
9.2	Different forms of wage adjustment in economies with various institutions	238