

Contents

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS page vii

PREFACE C. Fred Bergsten page ix

1 INTRODUCTION page 1

2 BACKGROUND page 3

The Stalinist Legacy page 3

Pre-1989 Reforms page 7

New Ambitions page 14

3 THE ISSUES page 19

Alternative Concepts of Convertibility page 19

Which Concept to Use? page 21

Conditions for Convertibility page 24

The Timing of Convertibility page 27

The Payments Union Proposal page 32

Trade Policy page 35

Exchange Rate Policy page 41

Dual Exchange Rates page 46

Support from EMS Membership page 49

The Parallel-Currency Proposal page 52

4 THE POSITIONS OF INDIVIDUAL COUNTRIES page 55

Yugoslavia page 55

Poland page 58

East Germany page 64

Czechoslovakia page 66

Hungary page 70

Bulgaria page 73

Romania page 76

Soviet Union page 79

5 CONCLUDING REMARKS      page 87

REFERENCES      page 91

TABLES

- 2.1 Population, per capita income, and openness to trade of selected European countries      page 5
- 2.2 CMEA trade, 1987      page 5
- 2.3 External debts of the Eastern European countries, 1989      page 12
- 2.4 Estimated effects of shifting to world prices on the terms of trade and dollar values of trade balances in five Eastern European countries, 1989      page 13

FIGURE

- 3.1 Local-currency prices of traded goods under alternative schemes      page 47