

Contents

Series Editor's Preface	viii
Acknowledgements	xii
Glossary of Terms	xiv
Chapter 1: Introduction	1
Introduction	1
The legal context of reparation and mediation in Scotland	5
The SACRO reparation and mediation project	7
The types of cases dealt with by the project	8
The development of the SACRO reparation and mediation project	10
Outline of procedure and practice	11
The evaluation	14
Chapter 2: Analysis of cases referred to and accepted by the project	16
Cases referred to and accepted by the project	16

Characteristics of cases referred to and accepted for reparation and mediation	17
Relationship between victim and accused	19
Type of offence	20
Characteristics of victims and accused in cases accepted by the project	21
Financial loss to victims	27
Summary	29
Chapter 3: Progress of cases through the project	30
Cases referred back after an approach to the victim	32
Cases withdrawn before an agreement was made	35
Cases referred back after contact with the accused	35
Cases where an agreement was reached between victim and accused	36
Termination for breach of the agreement	40
Completed agreements	41
Components of agreements	45
Throughput of cases	46
Summary	50
Chapter 4: The comparison group	51
Characteristics of the comparison group	52
Outcomes and disposals of comparison group cases	54
Interviews with victims in the comparison group	57
The comparison and caseload cases	58
Summary	59
Chapter 5: The views of victims and accused	60
Methods and response rates	60
Participating victims	63
Participating accused	69
Victims and accused who refused to participate	75
Summary	77
Chapter 6: The procurators fiscal	79
Sample and methods	79
The limits of reparation and mediation	80
Identifying cases for referral	81

The potential impact of reparation and mediation	84
Evaluation of the effectiveness of reparation and mediation	86
Reparation and mediation and other alternatives	87
Opinions of organisational features associated with reparation and mediation	89
Potential development of reparation and mediation	91
The wider impact of reparation and mediation	92
Summary	93
Chapter 7: The volunteer scheme	94
Recruitment	94
Background details of volunteer mediators	95
The interviews	96
Undertaking mediation	98
Problems in practice	101
Volunteers' evaluation of the impact of reparation and mediation	103
Summary	104
Chapter 8: Reparation, mediation and prosecution: Comparative costs by Martin Knapp and Ann Netten	105
The pursuit of cost information	105
The practice context of researching costs	106
Methodology	107
The costs of reparation and mediation	110
The costs of prosecution	122
Discussion	134
Chapter 9: Conclusions	138
Fulfilling the aims of the project	138
The costs of reparation and mediation	141
The potential of reparation and mediation	142
The boundaries of diversion	146
Reparation and mediation: beyond diversion	150
Organising reparation and mediation	154
In conclusion	155
References	157
Index	163