

Contents

List of diagrams	vii
Preface	viii
Introduction	1
Part I: Theories	7
1           Retribution and responsibility	9
2           Utilitarian responsibility	25
3           Responsibility in reformatory and therapeutic theories	41
Part II: Politics	65
4           Retributive and utilitarian political perspectives on criminal justice	67
5           Communitarianism and republicanism	97

Part III: Realities	133
Preface part III: The economic theory as a landmark	135
6 The negative value of reduction of infliction of pain	143
7 Institutional conflict-resolution and the justice model	169
8 Restorative crime-handling: a sketch of the theory	195
9 Deeper into restorative criminology	237
Conclusion	261
Bibliography	267

List of diagrams

Diagram 2.1	Aims of utilitarian punishment according to Bentham	33
Diagram 2.2	Elements of retribution and utilitarian punishment	37
Diagram 2.3	The structure of responsibility in retribution and utilitarian punishment	39
Diagram 3.1	Criteria for 'mental' excuses from criminal responsibility	53
Diagram 3.2	The difference between the relevant ideas of responsibility in utilitarian punishment and in the 'therapeutic' theory	58
Diagram 8.1	The upper-range principles of restorative crime-handling	217
Diagram 8.2	The agents of restorative crime-handling	218