

Contents

PREFACE	11
INTRODUCTION	17
Chapter 1: A Tradition with a Reason	29
Why textiles were traditionally women's work
Chapter 2: The String Revolution	42
Life in the Palaeolithic
Chapter 3: Courtyard Sisterhood	71
Horticultural society in the Neolithic
Chapter 4: Island Fever	101
Bronze Age horticultural survivals: Minoans and others
Chapter 5: More than Hearts on Our Sleeves	127
The functions of cloth and clothing in society
Chapter 6: Elements of the Code	147
Symbolism in cloth and clothing
Chapter 7: Cloth for the Caravans	164
Early urban manufacture in the Bronze Age Near East
Chapter 8: Land of Linen	185
Middle Kingdom Egypt
Chapter 9: The Golden Spindle	207
Outworker industries for the elite: The Mycenaeans

CONTENTS

Chapter 10: Behind the Myths	232
Women's work as reflected in textile myths
Chapter 11: Plain or Fancy, New or Tried and True	257
Late Bronze and Iron Age urban industries
Chapter 12: Postscript: Finding the Invisible	286
Methods of research
 ILLUSTRATION AND CREDIT LIST	 301
SOURCES	306
INDEX	323