

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
---------	----

PART ONE: CONCEPTUAL OVERVIEW

1. Rethinking Today's Minorities	3
----------------------------------	---

Vincent N. Parrillo

Suggests fine-tuning our conceptual frameworks to examine many of today's better-educated and better-skilled Third World immigrants.

2. The New Ethnic: Familiar Strains in Different Settings	15
---	----

Vincent N. Parrillo

Compares the settlement, acculturation, and nativist reaction patterns of today's immigrants with those of past European immigrants.

PART TWO: PERCEPTIONS AND REALITIES

3. The Twilight of Ethnicity Among Americans of European Ancestry: The Case of the Italians	29
---	----

Richard D. Alba

Examines, by focusing on Italian Americans, the decline of culturally distinct European-American ethnic groups as the social assimilation process nears completion.

4. Asians, Blacks, Hispanics, Amerinds:
Confronting Vestiges of Slavery 63
Stanford M. Lyman
Argues that the Thirteenth Amendment protects affirmative action programs for these minority groups against reverse discrimination charges.
5. Puerto Ricans: The Rainbow People 87
Clara E. Rodriguez
Offers an analytical commentary on the emerging trends in racial classification of Puerto Ricans from within and outside their community.
6. Iranians in America: Continuity and Change 119
Maboud Ansari
Analyzes the interactive network of ethnic symbols, rites, and institutions uniting the nonspatially-bound Iranian-American community.

PART THREE: PITFALLS AND PROMISES OF GOVERNMENT POLICY

7. American Indian Development Policies 145
C. Matthew Snipp and Gene F. Summers
Examines past and present government policies to achieve socioeconomic parity for American Indians, together with suggestions for achieving success.
8. African Americans and Social Policy in the 1990s 163
Wornie L. Reed
Considers factors in economics, education, housing, and health for developing relevant social policies to address problems in the black community.
9. Morality Politics and U.S. Refugee Policy 177
Peter I. Rose
Discusses how political concerns usually outweigh ethical or humanitarian standards in the choices made in determining U.S. refugee policy.

PART FOUR: THE FUTURE

10. Promoting Pluralism	193
Joseph Giordano and Irving M. Levine
Suggests new approaches for media and ethnic group leaders to eliminate the perpetuation of media stereotypes and bigotry, particularly in television.
Selected Bibliography	199
Index	201
About the Editor and Contributors	205