

CONTENTS

List of plates ix

List of tables xii

Preface xiii

Acknowledgements xv

Part I Understanding homelessness: a contextual perspective 1

1 INTRODUCTION 3

2 POVERTY AND THE POLITICS OF DISTRIBUTION IN BRITAIN, THE UNITED STATES, AND CANADA 27

3 THE EVOLUTION OF HOMELESSNESS IN BRITAIN, THE UNITED STATES, AND CANADA 51

4 MIGRANTS AND GATE-KEEPERS

The links between immigration and homelessness in Western Europe 89

Part II The human dimensions of homelessness 109

5 A PRESCRIPTION FOR POOR HEALTH 111

6 DEINSTITUTIONALIZATION

The beguiling notion of a caring community 121

7 THE EXPERIENCE OF HOMELESS PEOPLE 128

8 MORE THAN JUST A ROOF 149

Part III Responses by government and the voluntary sector 163

9 FROM SHELTERS TO PERMANENT HOUSING

The evolving role of government 165

10 CHANGING VIEWS OF CHARITY

The third sector's role in addressing homelessness in Britain,
the United States, and Canada 192

11 ARCHITECTURE OF OPPORTUNITY

Innovative programs designed to address homelessness 210

12 RECOMMENDATIONS 238

13 COMPARATIVE OBSERVATIONS AND CONCLUSIONS 243

Appendices 251

Notes 261

Bibliography 265

Index 280

PLATES

- 1 Staff and residents of a women's shelter in Toronto, 1995 21
- 2 A British Telecom tent in London's Bloomsbury district, intended to protect telephone equipment, was converted to a "mobile home" 36
- 3 Inter-war housing and post-war tower blocks at Rockmount Road Estate, Woolwich, London 39
- 4 Late nineteenth-century model dwellings, Noel Park, London 53
  - 5 Model homes, New York City 53
  - 6 Homeless man in New York City, 1890s 55
- 7 Lodging house residents were required to check their valuables and weapons before entering 55
  - 8 New York City police station lodgings in the 1890s 56
  - 9 Deplorable housing conditions sparked reform crusades 58
- 10 "Getting ready for supper in the newsboys' lodging-house" 58
  - 11 Among the concerns of urban reformers in the last quarter of the nineteenth century were child labor, public health, and tenement houses 59
  - 12 Garden City planning applied to World War I defense housing project in New England 62
  - 13 In the years after World War I Britain mounted a massive building campaign to produce "homes for heroes," for the returning servicemen 62
  - 14 Paymaster's window, 1934 64
- 15 Some of those who were jobless organized demonstrations against employers and the government 65
- 16 Unemployed dockers wait outside the hiring hall, New York City, 1934 66
  - 17 Migrant mother, 1934 67
- 18 In 1934 dust storms ruined 100 million acres in the Plains. Thousands of "Okies" and "Arkies" lost their farms and began the trek to California 68
- 19 The federal government dispatched the Civilian Conservation Corps to assist homeless people in the wake of floods. Forrest City, Arkansas, February 1937 68

- 20 A common form of housing for poor, single men during the Depression was the rooming house or the boarding house 69
- 21 Squatter camp, 1934 69
- 22 Washington's infamous "alley dwellings" which were demolished in slum clearance campaigns and replaced by public housing 70
- 23 and 24 Between 1935 and 1939, 88,000 public housing units were created 70-71
- 25 The Canadian government established relief camps in the 1930s as safety valves for the cities 73
- 26 Homeless and unemployed people participate in a hunger march, College Street and University Avenue, Toronto 74
- 27 In Canada during the Depression unemployed men frequently slept outdoors when weather permitted 74
- 28 Flop house occupied by single, unemployed men in Toronto 75
- 29 In the United States, after Pearl Harbor, immense amounts of resources were mobilized to build barracks for troops and housing for their families 76
- 30 Cartoons opposing public housing by the real estate lobby and the American Legion 80-81
- 31 and 32 Interior and exterior photographs of a system-built public housing project in Middleburg, the Netherlands, built in 1971-1972 98
- 33 Health clinics for homeless people offer first-aid services, referrals and transportation to hospitals, counseling, and assistance in dealing with health and welfare bureaucracies 118
- 34 Richard Shaw in housing specifically adapted for him by the Centre for Independent Living in Derbyshire, England 142
- 35 Young couple in hostel with 9-day-old baby, Middlesbrough, England, 1990 152
- 36 Resident of B & B, London 154
- 37 Friendship Drop-in Centre, Toronto, 1988 156
- 38 Homeless Bangladeshi families wait for housing in the London Borough of Tower Hamlets 173
- 39 Nurse's Settlement House (ca. 1900) provided a playground for immigrant children in New York City 193
- 40 Demonstration by the Lower Broughton Housing Action Group against their council's failure to move them into decent housing 196
- 41 Occupants of B & Bs in Bayswater, London, demonstrate against homelessness and the conditions in temporary accommodations 198
- 42 Soup kitchens were operated by a variety of groups during the Depression 200
- 43 Women from a shelter participate in a communal kitchen, 1995 203

- 44 Permanent housing in a completely renovated structure is provided by the Paul Sullivan Trust in Brookline, Massachusetts 207
- 45 Counseling services provided at an inner-city shelter, Pine Street Inn, Boston 212
- 46 Native woman receiving nursing assistance at Street Haven clinic in Toronto, 1988 214
- 47 Residents, volunteers, and staff of a women's shelter on a country outing, 1995 218
- 48 Self-help housing organizations enable young people on the dole to learn building construction skills while renovating housing for their own use 222
- 49 Poor conditions in homes owned by pensioners motivated Shelter to start Care and Repair Ltd. to assist older people in obtaining assistance to effect repairs to their dwellings 227
- 50 The buildings rehabilitated by self-help groups in Britain must be completely gutted before renovation work can commence 229
- 51 Community architecture project, Black Road, Macclesfield, England, 1986 230
- 52 Prince Charles congratulates members of the Rebuild self-build group in Edinburgh, October 1989 236
- 53 Former homeless resident, completing electrical work for Mace Housing Association, England 240

T A B L E S

- 1 Contextual framework for comparing the three countries 19–20
- 2 Summary of approaches to homelessness in the three countries 25–26
- 3 Housing and unemployment data for ethnic groups in Britain 34
- 4 Poverty, income, and employment in 94 large U.S. cities 41
- 5 Poverty rates in Canada, 1990 45
- 6 Selective comparison of relevant trends in Western Europe 106–107
- 7 Characteristics of emergency shelter residents in Canada 159
- 8 Capacity and characteristics of Toronto shelters 159
- 9 Federal appropriations for HUD homelessness programs 177
- 10 Public expenditures on programs dealing with homelessness, 1988 181
- 11 Number and type of shelter beds in five U.S. cities, 1988 181
- 12 Comparison of legislative responses to homelessness in Britain, the United States, and Canada 190
- 13 Examples of self-help housing in Canada 232
- 14 Attributes and characteristics of self-help housing 234