

Contents

List of Figures xi

Preface xiii

Introduction: Inventions of Faust i

1. Faust and Early Film Spectatorship 12

2. German Fascism and the Contested Terrain of Culture 44

3. Socialist Visions: Faust and Utopia 72

4. Gendering Faust 96

5. Anti-Fausts and the Avant-Garde 121

6. Oneiric Fausts: Repression and Liberation in the Cold War Era 156

Conclusion: Reframing the Faustian Question 186

Selected Filmography: Chronology of Faust Films 203

Notes 207

Selected Bibliography: Faust in Myth and Legend 229

Index 235

Figures

1. Faust punishes a farmer 12
2. Faust travels through the air, diverts himself at a tavern, and travels in a fantasy conveyance 13
3. Faust in his alchemist's laboratory 14
4. Mephistopheles surrounded by his dancing troupe in hell 17
5. Mephistopheles spies on Marguerite in the cathedral 18
6. The explorer Crackford and his valet are drawn through the air by a skeletal steed 20
7. Faust and Wagner try to obtain the tears of a virgin 24
8. The shadow of Scapinelli looms below the two lovers 32
9. Balduin confronted by his double in the streets of Prague 32
10. Scapinelli showers Balduin with gold and demands "something from his room" in return 34
11. Faust penetrates into Gretchen's chambers 36
12. Faust homesick for Germany 37
13. Gretchen as a suffering Madonna 38
14. Shadows surrounding brightness: Gretchen in the garden 40
15. John Heartfield's "Illustration for Grimm's fairy tale about the cat and the mouse" 53
16. John Heartfield's "The Thousand-year Reich" 55
17. Jesuitarum libellus, or the powerful sea spirit 58
18. The actor Hendrik Höfgen makes a Faustian bargain with Nazism 64
19. Suzzy Roche and Kate Valk in House/Lights 132
20. Faust doubles himself in Stan Brakhage's Faust IV 142
21. The devil argues the case against Jabez Stone, defended by Daniel Webster 165
22. Mephistopheles as a marionette 182
23. The Homunculus turns into Faust's skull 182
24. What price the soul? 187