

Contents

Acknowledgements	9
Part One: War Literature Before the Great War
1. Theodor Fontane as Chronicler of War	13
2. Carl Bleibtreu's Popular Battles	23
3. Detlev von Liliencron's Vision of War	27
Part Two: War Literature during the Great War
4. Kriegsbegeisterung and the Rationale for War	45
5. Walter Flex and the Ideal of War	55
6. Popular War Literature during the War	71
7. August Stramm's Vision of War	77
Part Three: War Literature After the Great War
8. The Context of Ernst Jünger's War Writings between 1919 and 1928	99
9. Jünger's Representation of Battle: A New Literary Response to Combat	115
Notes	131
Works Cited	173
Index	193