

CONTENTS

Preface	page ix
1. Introduction: Islam: A Passage to the West	1
The failure of political Islam: and what?	1
Islam as a minority	17
Acculturation and 'objectification' of Islam	21
Recasting identities, westernising religiosity	26
Where are the Muslim reformers?	29
Crisis of authority and self-enunciation	33
Religion as identity	35
The triumph of the self	38
Secularisation through religion?	40
Is jihad closer to Marx than to the Koran?	41
What is Bin Laden's strategy?	55
2. Post-Islamism	58
The failure of political Islam revisited	58
From Islamism to nationalism	62
States without nation, brothers without state	65
The crisis of diasporas	67
Islam is never a strategic factor as such	69
The political integration of Islamists	72
From utopia to conservatism	75
The elusive 'Muslim vote'	78
Democracy without democrats	80
The Iranian Islamic revolution: how politics defines religion	83

Islamisation as a factor of secularisation	88
Conservative re-Islamisation	92
Post-Islamism: the privatisation of religion	97
3. Muslims in the West	100
How to live as a stateless Muslim minority	107
Historical paradigms of Muslims as a minority	111
Acculturation and identity reconstruction	117
4. The Triumph of the Religious Self	148
The loss of religious authority and the 'objectification' of Islam	151
Immigration and reformulation of Islam	156
The crisis of authority and religious knowledge	158
The religious market and the sociology of Islamic actors	171
Individualisation of enunciation and propaganda	175
Faith and self	185
Humanism, ethical Islam and salvation	187
Enunciation of the self	192
Recommunitarianisation and construction of identity	197
5. Islam in the West or the Westernisation of Islam	201
The building of Muslim 'churches'	201
Neo-brotherhoods and New Age religiosity	220
6. The Modernity of an Archaic Way of Thinking: Neofundamentalism	232
Sources and actors of neofundamentalism	234
The basic tenets of neofundamentalism	243
Neofundamentalists and Islamists	247
Neofundamentalists and radical violence	254
Why is neofundamentalism successful?	257
The new frontier of the imagined ummah	287
7. On the Path to War: Bin Laden and Others	290
Al Qaeda and the new terrorists	294
Deterritorialisation	304
Re-Islamisation in the West	308
Uprooting and acculturation	309

The peripheral jihad	312
The Western-born or second-generation Muslims	315
The converts and the 'protest conversion'	317
The subcontractors	319
The future of Al Qaeda	321
8. Remapping the World: Civilisation, Religion and Strategy	326
Culture, religion and civilisations: the conundrum of clash         and dialogue	328
The debate on values	335
Military strategy on abstract territories	337
Index	341