

TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION . . . . .	9
I CLARIFICATION OF TERMS AND METHODS . . . . .	12
A. Dualism . . . . .	12
1. Catharism . . . . .	14
2. Dualism within Orthodoxy . . . . .	16
a. Its General Characteristics . . . . .	16
b. Orthodox Dualism and Sexual Pleasure . . . . .	19
3. Evidences of Dualism in Twelfth-Century German Literature . . . . .	23
B. Gradualism . . . . .	27
C. Methodological Considerations . . . . .	30
II GREGORIUS . . . . .	35
A. Dualism in the Text . . . . .	38
1. Prologue . . . . .	38
2. Gregorius' Parents . . . . .	40
3. Gregorius in the Monastery . . . . .	43
4. In the Land of His Mother . . . . .	46
5. Penitent and Pope . . . . .	49
B. Dualism in Structure and Symbolism . . . . .	51
C. Gregorius' Guilt and the Interpretation of the Whole . . . . .	57
D. Hartmann's Gregorius and Catharism . . . . .	78
III DER ARME HEINRICH . . . . .	81
A. The Three Views of the World Presented . . . . .	83
1. Heinrich's Relationship to the World . . . . .	83
2. The Maget and the World . . . . .	90
3. The Attitude of the Narrator . . . . .	94
B. Heinrich's Metanoia . . . . .	96
1. The Function of the Girl . . . . .	96
2. The Place of the Will . . . . .	99
3. The Act of the Will . . . . .	101
C. The Conclusion of the Story . . . . .	102
D. Other Evidences of Gradualism with a View to Gregorius . . . . .	104
BIBLIOGRAPHY . . . . .	107