

CONTENTS

Notes on Contributors	vii
Preface	xi
1. Introduction: Ethics, Prevention, and Public Health Angus Dawson and Marcel Verweij	1
2. The Meaning of 'Public' in 'Public Health' Marcel Verweij and Angus Dawson	13
3. Public Health and Civic Republicanism: Toward an Alternative Framework for Public Health Ethics Bruce Jennings	30
4. Health of the People: The Highest Law? Lawrence O. Gostin and Lesley Stone	59
5. Population-Level Bioethics: Mapping a New Agenda Daniel Wikler and Dan W. Brock	78
6. Parental Choice and Expert Knowledge in the Debate about MMR and Autism Tom Sorell	95
7. Ethical Issues in Applying Quantitative Models for Setting Priorities in Prevention Dan W. Brock	111
8. Reasonable Limits to Public Health Demands Mariëtte van den Hoven	129

9. Vertical Transmission of Infectious Diseases and Genetic Disorder: Are the Medical and Public Responses Consistent?	145
Jay A. Jacobson, Margaret P. Battin, Jeffrey R. Botkin, Leslie Francis, James O. Mason, and Charles B. Smith
10. Herd Protection as a Public Good: Vaccination and our Obligations to Others	160
Angus Dawson
11. Tobacco Discouragement: A Non-Paternalistic Argument	179
Marcel Verweij
12. Informed Consent and the Expansion of Newborn Screening	198
Niels Nijsingh
References	213
Index	233