

CONTENTS

Preface xi

1 INTRODUCTION 3

- Contract and Transgression 3
- Adultery and the Novel 11
- City, Field, and Temple 18
- The Stranger in the House 24
- Puns, Perversions, and Privations 52
- The City of the Nuptials 58
- Law and the River 66
- The Drawing Room and the Railway 72
- The Great Game of Differentiation 79
- The Whence of Desire 87
- The Triumph of the Will 100

2 ROUSSEAU'S LA NOUVELLE HÉLOÏSE 113

- Le Bosquet Profané 113
- Un Chalet à la Ville 117
- La Maison Paternelle 120
- La Parole du Père 133
- Elysium 143
- The Dream of the Veil 165
- Death by Water 171

3 GOETHE'S DIE WAHLVERWANDTSCHAFTEN 179

- The Monstrous Rights of the Present 179
- Country Living and Secret Passions 199
- Combining and Separating 206
- Pictures of Paternal Admonition 225

4 FLAUBERT'S MADAME BOVARY 233

The Fog in Emma Bovary's Head	233
Charles Bovary Goes to School, Drops His Cap, and Tries to Say His Name	236
Monsieur Binet and His Lathe	254
Rodolphe Fails to Distinguish	266
Monsieur Homais Loses His Temper	273
Fetishism—Castles of Cake, Pellets from the Seraglio, the Damascened Rifle	284
Distance, Happiness, Blindness—Léon, Lheureux, et l'Aveugle	292
Who or What Is Madame Bovary	305
Iron, Mist, and Water—Constriction, Confusion, and Melting	312
Dr. Larivière Makes a Joke	320
Freud and the Duplicity of Language	328
Emma in Rouen	337
The "Morselization" of Emma Bovary	349
Adultery Triumphant	366

5 CONCLUSION 368

SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY 378

INDEX 381