

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
List of Abbreviations	xi
Introduction. Towards a Kleinian Dynamics of Reading	i
Kleinian Theory	3
Problems	10
Object-Relations Criticism	13
Klein on Literature	25
Chapter 1. A Kleinian Journey to Hell and Heaven	41
The Poetics of Frustration and Gratification in Dante's Divina Commedia	45
The Poetics of Hell	45
The Fragmentation of Hell	48
Fear of Persecutors	52
Nature Distorted	53
Sadism without Guilt	54
Frustration: The State of Hopeless Desire	64
The Poetics of Paradise	65
The Gratified Infant	66
Imagery of Nature: Birds	70
Internal Peace	74
Figuring Paradise: Natural Harmony	75
Poetic Music	76
The Narcissistic Rose	80

Separation and Ambivalence in Dante's
Divina Commedia 83

Chapter 2.	Pongé and the Possession of the Object	100
Chapter 3.	Writing Paranoia: A Kleinian Reading of Rilke's Die Aufzeichnungen des Malte Laurids Brigge	124
	The Return of the Persecutors	129
	The Alien	137
	Paranoid Phantasies: The Absence of Trust	146
	Fragmentation	150
	Conclusion	160
Chapter 4.	'Dans le silence les mots explosent': The Dynamics of Textual Sadism	171
	Fluidity of Subjectivity	173
	Demand and Appeasement	174
	'Dans le silence les mots explosent': The Dynamics of Textual Sadism	179
	The Self-Reflexive Text	179
	'Pure oeuvre d'art'	182
	Textual Sadism	184
	Where Is Reparation?	200
Chapter 5.	Conclusion	207
	What Does This Mean for Literary Studies?	211
	Works Consulted	217