

CONTENTS

Contributors	ix
Preface	xi
Two Kinds of Composition in French Complex Predicates	1
ANNE ABEILLÉ, DANIELLE GODARD, AND IVAN A. SAG
1. Introduction	1
2. A Lexical Analysis of French Clitics	5
3. Composition with Tense Auxiliaries	14
4. Composition FAIRE	17
5. Reflexive Verbs	23
6. Conclusion	33
References	39
Word Order Constraints on Verb Clusters in German and Dutch	43
GOSSE BOUMA AND GERTJAN VAN NOORD
1. Introduction	43
2. The Constituent Structure of German VPs	44
3. Word Order within the German Verb Cluster	51
4. Word Order in Dutch Verb Clusters	63
5. Comparison and Conclusions	69
References	71

Constraining Argument Merger through Aspect	73
MIRIAM BUTT
1. Introduction	73
2. Previous Approaches to Complex Predicates	74
3. Complex Predicate Formation	80
4. Urdu Causatives	85
5. Formal Considerations	89
6. Causatives, Aspect, and Affectedness	94
7. An Alternative Analysis of Causatives	103
8. Passives and Unspecified Objects	105
9. Conclusion	106
References	109
 Third Construction and VP Extraposition in German: An HPSG Analysis	 115
ERHARD W. HINRICHS AND TSUNeko NAKAZAWA
1. Introduction	115
2. Incoherent Infinitive Constructions in German	116
3. VP Extraposition	118
4. Third Construction as a Special Case of VP Extraposition	122
5. Dual Properties of Third Construction Triggering Verbs	129
6. Argument Composition, ID Schemas, and Forcing Argument Raising in the Third Construction	131
7. The Third Construction Lexical Rule	135
8. LP Rules	138
9. Long Passives	140
10. A Comparison with Previous Analyses	145
11. Open Problems	148
12. Conclusion	150
References	154
 X Argument Composition and Long-Distance Scrambling in Korean: An Extension of the Complex Predicate Analysis	 159
CHAN CHUNG
1. Introduction	159
2. Argument Composition and Auxiliary Verb Construction	160
3. Long-Distance Scrambling and Argument Composition	177
4. Theoretical Predictions	206
5. Summary and Conclusions	211
References	218

Constituency and Linearization of Verbal Complexes	221
ANDREAS KATHOL
1. Introduction	221
2. Argument Composition and Branching Structure	223
3. Constituency	225
4. Linearization	233
5. A Radically Linearization-Based Theory?	248
6. Concluding Remarks	260
References	267
 A Deductive Account of French Object Clitics	 271
ESTHER KRAAK
1. Introduction	271
2. Categorical Logics	272
3. Data	285
4. Simple Clitic Constructions	288
5. Clitic Order	292
6. Clitics and Verbal Complexes	296
7. Comparison with Other Analyses	303
8. Conclusion	307
9. Appendix: The Framework	308
References	311
 Italian Restructuring Verbs: A Lexical Analysis	 313
PAOLA MONACHESI
1. Introduction	313
2. Basic Facts	314
3. The Syntactic Structure of Restructuring Verbs	316
4. The Analysis	320
5. An Alternative Analysis	344
6. Restructuring Verbs in Salentino	347
7. Conclusion	360
References	366
 Causatives and the Nature of Argument Structure	 369
GERT WEBELHUTH
1. Introduction	369
2. The Data from Causatives	371

3. Some Analytic Prerequisites	385
4. The Analysis of Causatives	396
References	421
Index	423