

Contents

Preface ix

Introduction. Father Léopold Braun: An Assumptionist Priest in
Stalin's Moscow, 1934–1945 xvii

MEMOIRS

1.	“No Monkey Business, Mr. Ambassador”	1
2.	Of Gold and Paper Rubles	10
3.	A Pioneer Assumptionist in Russia	23
4.	Moscow in Retrospect	35
5.	Nonworkers, Parasites, and Ministers of Cult Incorporated	51
6.	Sidelight Glimpses of Proletarian Felicity	68
7.	Bigwig Transportation, Providential Lodgings	75
8.	Wingless Guardian Angels	83
9.	Non-Orthodox Worship in Soviet Russia	93
10.	Liquidating the “Reactionary Clergy”	101
11.	State Planning and Religion	115
12.	“What Is This, a Pass?”	123
13.	Just What Is the MVD-KGB?	132
14.	I Officially Deal with the NKVD	150
15.	I Hear and See Strange Things	160
16.	“Was Not Lenin a Great Man?”	169

17.	The Moscow St. Louis Church Five Times “Robbed”	175
18.	I Am Mistaken for a Red Spanish Agitator	185
19.	Other Practical Points of Soviet Antireligious Legislation	193
20.	I Invoke the Roosevelt-Litvinov Religious Agreement	200
21.	A Planned “Accident” and Other Sundry Experiences	210
22.	“My Little Mother Taught Me”	222
23.	How the Kremlin Lost Its Battle with God	229
24.	Hitler’s “Crusade” Against Soviet Atheism	238
25.	Face-Saving Kremlin Concessions to Religion	247
26.	Soviet Genocide and Strange U.S. War Psychosis	256
27.	NKVD Conveyance for Me and My Dog	262
28.	“Father, You’re Going to Have a Vacation!”	270
29.	The Kremlin Has a Request to Make	276
30.	General de Gaulle Visits the St. Louis Church	282
31.	I Appear As a Defendant in a People’s Court	287
32.	An Interview Following the Yalta Conference	295
33.	“Don’t Get on That Plane!”	302
34.	Epilogue	310

APPENDICES

1.	Exchange of Letters Between Roosevelt and Litvinov on the U.S.-USSR Religious Agreement	315
2.	Initial Soviet Legislation on Church and State	321
3.	Religion in the Eyes of Kremlin Leaders: What They Said and Continue to Say	324
4.	Categories of Penal Code Penalties: Article 20 of the RSFSR Penal Code (Revised 1953 Edition)	329
5.	Regulations Governing the Residence and Traveling of Foreigners in the USSR	331
6.	Methods of Soviet Religious Repression	333
7.	Text of the 1954 Khrushchev Decree on the Manner of Conducting Antireligious Propaganda	337
8.	Text of the Proclamation “Dissolving” the Comintern	342
	Index	347