

Table of contents

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Preface  | VII |
| Transcription symbols  | XI  |
| CHAPTER 1  |            |
| From narrative/text to small stories/practices                               | 1   |
| 1.0 Introduction  | 1          |
| 1.1 Narrative as talk-in-interaction  | 2          |
| 1.2 Narrative and social practice: Beyond the here-and-nowof local interactions | 5          |
| 1.2.1 Narrative in time and place   | 12         |
| 1.3 Narrative and identities  | 14         |
| 1.4 Methodological perspectives: Ethnographies of narrative events                  | 20         |
| 1.4.1 Data  | 23         |
| CHAPTER 2  |            |
| Beyond the narrative canon: Small stories in action                          | 31  |
| 2.1 The canon   | 31         |
| 2.1.1 The issue of definition   | 37         |
| 2.2 Types of small stories  | 40         |
| 2.2.1 Stories to be told  | 41         |
| 2.2.2 Breaking news   | 42         |
| 2.2.3 Projections   | 47         |
| 2.2.4 Shared stories  | 50         |
| 2.3 Interactional features  | 56         |
| 2.4 Conclusion: Small stories in context  | 59         |
| CHAPTER 3  |            |
| Narrative structure in small stories   | 61  |
| 3.1 Narrative structure beyond Labov  | 61         |
| 3.2 Structure as sequence   | 65         |
| 3.3 The emergence of structure  | 70         |
| 3.4 The temporalization of structure  | 71         |
| 3.5 Narrative structure and/in narrative genres                                     | 74         |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 3.6 Time and place in projections:Sequential, emergent and temporalized | 79         |
| 3.7 Conclusion  | 86         |
| CHAPTER 4   |            |
| Small stories and identities   | 89  |
| 4.1 From storytelling roles to large identities                             | 89         |
| 4.2 A toolkit for identity analysis   | 91         |
| 4.2.1 Telling, situational and social identities                            | 95         |
| 4.3 Telling and social roles close up                                       | 98         |
| 4.3.1 Social identities ascribed: Self- and other-claims                    | 105        |
| 4.3.2 Sharing and shared stories for identity constructions                 | 108        |
| 4.4 Conclusion: Small stories and identities in social practice             | 115        |
| CHAPTER 5   |            |
| Positioning self and other in small stories                          | 119 |
| 5.1 Narrative identities and positioning                                    | 119        |
| 5.1.1 Positioning the 'other'   | 124        |
| 5.2 Positioning cues and small stories                                      | 125        |
| 5.2.1 Positioning in action   | 126        |
| 5.2.1.1 Locating men  | 127        |
| 5.2.1.2 Styling men   | 130        |
| 5.2.1.3 Assessing men   | 133        |
| 5.3 Positionings of other as gendered performances                          | 135        |
| 5.4 From other-positionings to self-identities                              | 140        |
| 5.5 Small stories as fantasies  | 143        |
| Conclusion: Small stories as the new narrative turn                  | 147 |
| From big stories to small stories   | 147        |
| Small stories as social practices   | 148        |
| Small stories as a new perspective in narrative analysis                    | 149        |
| Small stories and identities: Premises and implications                     | 150        |
| Appendix   | 155 |
| Story 1, 'Going out for a crème brûlée'                                     | 155        |
| Story 2, 'Talk to him man, talk to him'                                     | 159        |
| Pictures of the town  | 167        |
| References   | 171 |
| Name index   | 181 |
| Subject index  | 183 |