

Contents

I	Introduction	1
II	The Organ and the Harpsichord	10
	Keyboard Accompaniment in the Sacred Works	10
	The Harpsichord Controversy	12
	Evidence of Harpsichords in Churches	23
	Harpsichord Participation during Bach's Tenure at Leipzig	25
	Cembalo Parts	32
	Harpsichord Parts in Performances of Other Composers' Works	44
	Figured Cammerton Continuo Parts	48
	Tacet -Indications in Organ Parts	58
	Performance of Cantatas with Solo Organ	63
	Dual Accompaniment as Convention	68
III	The Accompaniment of Recitatives	72
	The Convention of Short Accompaniment in Secco Recitatives	72
	Witnesses to the Convention: 1711–1750	76
	Later Witnesses: 1750–1810	82
	The Convention in Historical Perspective	88
	Evidence in Bach's Continuo Parts	89
	Bach's Recitatives and Their Performance	105
IV	The Bassoon	108
	Two Views of the Bassoon	108
	The Original Parts and the Question of Participation	113
	The Pitch of Bach's Bassoons	118
	Weimar Parts	123
	Leipzig Parts	125
	The Bassoonist as Adjunct Continuo Player	127
V	The String Instruments in the Continuo Group	132
	The Violoncello	132
	The Problematic Identity of the Violone	136
	Definitions of the German Violone: 1697–1752	137
	Case Study: The Brandenburg Concertos	142
	Violone Parts from Mühlhausen, Weimar, and Cöthen	151
	Leipzig Violone Parts	156
	Bach's Violone Types	165
	The Viola da gamba	166
	The Lute	170
	The Violoncello piccolo and the Viola pomposa	172
	The Bass Players in Perspective	175

Guide to the Appendixes	179
Appendix A Catalog of Original Performance Parts for Bach's Vocal Works	183
Appendix B Bach's Continuo Parts Arranged by Date of Performance	208
Abbreviations	220
Notes	221
Index to Cited Works of Bach	259
General Index	262